SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 21ST DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1910.

VEE COCK Appellant,
versus

STRONG AND DRIVER, LTD., Respondents.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District who in an action brought by the respondents against the appellant as executrix of James Veecock, deceased, for illegally levying on a certain piano hired from them by one L. McDonnell, gave judgment for the respondents in the sum of $18.90, with costs.

The reasons of appeal are (1) that the decision is erroneous in point of law there being: (a) no legal evidence of appellant's representative capacity; (b) no legal evidence as to the alleged hire purchase agreement; (c) no legal evidence that the piano was on hire purchase; (d) that the landlords hypothes for rent attached to the piano and (2) the admission of illegal evidence, viz: the alleged agreement of hire purchase without which there is not sufficient legal evidence to sustain the decision.

With regard to 1 (a)—The Magistrate in the course of his reasons refers to Rule 1 of the Rules regulating the practice and procedure of Magistrate's Courts which provides that "the representative capacity of the plaintiff or defendant mentioned in the statement of claim shall not in any case be in issue unless the same be expressly denied" and adds that this was not done in the present case. A reference, however, to the statement of claim shows that by paragraph 7, the representative capacity of the appellant is alleged and the notes of evidence forwarded by the Magistrate show that Counsel for the appellant while admitting paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, denied the statements contained in the other paragraphs. The representative capacity of the appellant was therefore expressly denied. It is argued by the solicitor for the respondents that notice had been given to produce the will and as this was not done evidence as to its contents could be given, and moreover that the evidence in the case as well as the exhibits show that appellant had acted as executrix and that therefore she was estopped from denying her representative capacity. This Court cannot uphold such a contention. The appellant having denied her representative capacity it lay upon the respondents to prove the same and the proper mode of doing so is that provided by section 48 of the Evidence Ordinance 1898. It would seem that the denial by Counsel for the appellant of paragraph 7, of the statement of claim escaped the notice of the Magistrate who otherwise ought to have non-suited the respondents (sect. 33 of No. 11 of 1893). The appeal is allowed and it is ordered that a judgment of non-suit be entered. The respondents to pay the costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.*FULL COURT (APPEAL COURT).

THIS 22ND DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1910.

In re DE CAIROS BROTHERS & Co. v. MAN-
SON HING, ex parte DE CAIROS BROTHERS
& Co. v. the Liquidator of HING CHEONG &
Co., Ltd.

This is an appeal from a decision of Hawtayne, acting J., refusing to make absolute an order to attach a judgment debt alleged to be owing by Hing Cheong & Co., Ltd., to Manson Hing, to pay a judgment debt owing by the latter to De Cairos Brothers & Co.

The alleged debt of Hing Cheong & Co., Ltd., to Manson Hing, is one on a judgment for costs obtained by the latter in an action in which Mr. Barnes was his solicitor. Mr. Barnes therefore had we think, a lien for his costs on the moneys recoverable under that judgment (cf. Thomas v. Barker, 2 Men. 321), and he having, as appears from the affidavits filed, given notice of his claim to the garnishee, and the garnishor, De Cairos Brothers & Co., having (as also appears) full knowledge of his claim, Mr. Barnes would, in the absence of any special circumstances defeating his right, have been entitled to receive the moneys recoverable under that judgment in priority to the garnishor. (Eisdell v. Coningham, 28 L.J. Ex. 213). But in the present case the following facts exist. Barnes, by his counsel on the 21st May, appeared in compliance with an order of the Judge under O. xlvii, R. 77, and stated that he had no claim on such moneys, that he had on the 28th April accepted a cheque given by Hing Cheong & Co., Ltd. in his favour as a payment in full of his claim. It appears from the affidavits that this cheque had, on the 21st May, been stopped and that Barnes was suing Hing Cheong & Co. on it, and it is stated by counsel that judgment had also been obtained by Barnes at that date in that action. This fact does not appear on the affidavits but being stated in argument and not contested by the parties to this appeal (counsel for the applicant urging that it should not be taken into consideration) cannot now be overlooked by the Court. Manson Hing's judgment against Hing Cheong & Co., being for costs only, and Barnes his solicitor being (as appears from the evidence) entitled to the whole of the fruits of that judgment, his bill for such costs not having been paid, he was, we think, authorised in accepting on behalf of Manson Hing, a cheque for the amount of the judgment debt drawn in his own favour, and he having by his counsel stated in Court on the 21st May, that his claim had been paid in full, on the 28th April, by that cheque, and having subsequently (not as solicitor for Manson Hing, but in his own name) sued Hing Cheong & Co., Ltd. on that cheque and obtained judgment, he is in our opinion in the same position as if the cheque had originally been drawn in Manson Hing's favour and by him indorsed to him (Barnes), in payment of this bill and is estopped from denying that his claim against Manson Hing for payment of his bill of costs has been satisfied by that cheque. This being so, Manson Hing could not sue on his judgment debt on the ground that the cheque constituted only a conditional payment (Cohen v. Hale, L.R. 3 Q.B.D. 371), as he could not show that the instrument was in his possession and not outstanding in the hands of a third party entitled to sue on it. (Price v. Price, 16 L.J. Ex. 99; Hadwen v. Mendizabel, 2 C. and P. 20; Belshaw v. Bush, 22 L.J.C.P. 24), and on the same principle Manson Hing is debarred from enforcing his judgment in discharge of which that cheque was given, as he might have done had that cheque remained in his possession or in the possession of Barnes in the capacity of solicitor for him. Under these circumstances there are not any moneys recoverable by Manson Hing under his judgment against Hing Cheong & Co., Ltd., and there is therefore no debt due by Hing Cheong & Co. to Manson Hing, which can be attached. Hence no order for payment of the moneys originally recoverable under that judgment can be made.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

1. If any plaintiff sues or defendant is sued in any representative capacity it shall be expressed on the statement of claim or plaint. The representative capacity of the plaintiff or defendant mentioned in the statement of claim shall not in any case be in issue unless the same be expressly denied. Representative capacity of Parties.

2. Persons under the age of twenty-one years, except in cases mentioned in section 6 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, may sue or defend an action through or by their guardians. Infancy of Parties.

3. Where a defendant claims contribution, indemnity or other remedy or relief over against any other person he may apply to have such person made a party to the action. Contribution, &c., against third party.

4. Where more parties than one have the same or a common interest in one action, one or more of such persons may sue or be authorised by the Court to defend in such action on behalf or for the benefit of all parties so interested, or of such of them as consent that their interests should be thus represented. Representation of interest of Parties.

5. Any persons claiming or being liable as co-partners may sue or be sued in the name of their respective firms, if any, of which such persons were co-partners at the time of the accruing of the cause of action, but nothing herein contained shall prevent any plaintiff from suing the partners of a firm jointly and severally. Co-partners

Joindure of Defendants.

6. Where in any action whether founded upon contract or otherwise the plaintiff is in doubt from whom he is entitled to redress, he may join two or more defendants to the intent that in such action the question as to which, if any of the defendants is liable and to what extent as may be determined between such parties.

Service on defendant added.

7. Where a defendant is added, the plaintiff shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court file an amended copy, in duplicate, of the plaint, and such new defendant shall be served with a summons in the same manner as the original defendant was served, and the proceedings against such new defendant shall be deemed to have begun on the filing of such amended claim.

Consent to be added as Plaintiff.

8. No person shall be added as plaintiff suing in his own right or as Curator or Guardian of a person under disability without his own consent.

Substitution or addition of Plaintiff by order of Court.

9. Where an action has been commenced in the name of the wrong person as plaintiff, or where it is doubtful whether it has been commenced in the name of the right plaintiff or plaintiffs the Court may, if satisfied that it has been so commenced through a bona fide mistake, and that it is necessary for the determination of the real matter in dispute so to do, order any other person or persons to be substituted or added as plaintiff or plaintiffs upon such terms as may be just.

Joindure of
action.

10. The plaintiff may unite in the same action several causes of action of a similar nature; provided that the total amount claimed in such action does not exceed one hundred dollars.

Separate trials by order of Court.

11. If it appear to the Court that any such causes of action cannot be conveniently disposed of or tried together, the Court may order separate trials to be had, or make such order as may be necessary or expedient for the separate disposal thereof.

Result of misjoinder or nonjoinder.

12. No action shall be defeated by reason of the misjoinder (or non-joinder) of parties, and the Court may in every case deal with the matter in controversy as far as regards the rights and interests of the parties actually before it.

Improper
joinder.

13. The Court may at any stage strike out the names of parties improperly joined and may order, if it shall seem just, the party responsible for such improper joinder to pay the costs, if any, occasioned by reason of such joinder.

Demand
before filing
plaint.

14. Previous to filing a claim for damages the plaintiff shall whenever practicable demand in writing payment or performance from the person he intends to proceed against or his Attorney if he is out of the Colony: The want of such demand shall not (where there is no statutory provision for notice of action) invalidate subsequent proceedings; but if demand is not made eight days before filing the Plaint, and if the defendant appears on the day fixed for the hearing of the Claim and consents to sentence, the plaintiff shall as a rule recover no costs.

15. The posting of such demand in a registered letter addressed to the defendant at his residence, country house or place of business if within the ordinary delivery of registered letters by any Post Office in the Colony, with the filing of a duplicate thereof with the Clerk of the Court, shall be prima facie evidence that such demand was duly made, and the filing of the Post Office receipt for the registering of such letter shall be prima facie evidence of the posting of such demand.

Evidence of postage of demand.

16. The Plaint shall contain the name of the plaintiff and his place of abode, the name and place of abode of the defendant, so far as known, a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary clear and concise language without repetition and in such a manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended, and a demand of the remedy which the plaintiff desires to obtain, and if payment of money be demanded the amount thereof. In actions for debt the details for such debt shall be filed with the plaint.

Essentials in plaint.

17. A Counter-claim or set-off shall be in duplicate and shall be as clear in its terms and contents as a plaint, and must afford the plaintiff the same amount of information as the plaint furnishes to the defendant.

Essentials in counter-claim.

18. Where any plantation, lot of land, building, ship or vessel, is proceeded against, the plaintiff may proceed against the proprietor or representative thereof without expressing the name of such proprietor or representative.

Procedure against plantation, &c.

19. Where a plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of action founded upon separate and distinct facts, they shall be stated, as far as may be, separately and distinctly, and the same rule shall apply where the defendant relies upon several grounds of set-off or counter-claim founded upon separate and distinct facts.

Claims on separate and distinct facts.

20. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his defence to deny generally the claims contained in the plaint, but he must state clearly and specifically the ground or grounds upon which he relies by way of defence.

Grounds of defence.

21. Whenever it is material to allege notice to any person of any fact, matter, or thing, it shall be sufficient to allege such notice as a fact, unless the form of such notice or the circumstances from which such notice is to be inferred be material.

Allegation of notice.

22. If in any case in which the defendant sets up a counter-claim the action of the plaintiff is stayed, discontinued or dismissed, the counter-claim may nevertheless be proceeded with.

Counter-claim although action stayed, &c.

23. Where in any action a set-off or counter-claim is established the Court may, if the balance is in favour of the defendant, or the action of the plaintiff has been stayed, discontinued or dismissed, give judgment for the defendant for such balance, or may otherwise Balance in favour of defendant or counter-claim or set-off.

adjudge to the defendant such relief as he may be entitled to upon the merits of the case.

Payment into Court in respect of counter-claim.

24. A plaintiff may in respect of a counter-claim pay money into Court in satisfaction of the whole or part thereof, subject to the like conditions as in the case of payment by a defendant.

Denial as to damages.

25. No denial in defence shall be necessary as to damages claimed or their amount, but they shall be deemed to be put in issue in all cases unless expressly admitted.

Defence Bill
of Exchange, &c.

26. In actions upon Bills of Exchange, Promissory Notes or Cheques, the defendant in defence must deny some matter of fact, e.g., the drawing, making, endorsing or accepting the bill, note, or cheque.

Special
defence—
time of.

27. The notice of special defence referred to in section 12 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance of 1893, shall be in the form given in the Schedule attached to these Rules and shall be given to the Clerk of the Court within three days after the service of the summons on defendant: Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate on the day of hearing that three days were not sufficient for the defendant in which to give such notice, the defendant shall be entitled to give such notice immediately after the case is called, and the Magistrate may then, if the plaintiff applies for an adjournment, grant an adjournment on such terms as to costs or otherwise as the Magistrate shall think fit.

Special
defence—
notice of.

28. The notice by the Clerk of the Court of the intention of the defendant to set up a special defence shall be in the form given in the Schedule. Provided that the original notice to the Clerk of the Court may at any time be inspected by the interested party.

Counter-claim and set-off Fees.

29. Where a counter-claim or set-off is filed, such counter-claim or set-off shall be subject to, according to its value, the amount of fees payable under the 'Tariff of Fees in the Magistrates' Courts Ordinance.

Costs.

30. A Magistrate in giving judgment with costs need not at the time of the giving of such judgment state the amount of such costs, but shall fix the amount of the fee payable to Counsel or Attorney at that time. Costs shall be ascertained by the Clerk of the Court and submitted to the Magistrate at or before the rising of the Court.

Death of parties.

31. Where one or more of several plaintiffs or defendants shall die before judgment, the suit shall not abate, if the cause of action survive to or against the surviving parties respectively.

Application for new trial.

32. An application for a new trial under sections 20 and 32 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, may be made and determined on the day of hearing if both parties be present; or such application may be made at any subsequent sitting of the Court: Provided the intended applicant do seven clear days before the holding of such Court deliver to the Clerk of the Court, and also give to the opposite party by serving the same personally on such party, or by leaving the same at his place of abode or business, a notice in writing signed by himself, his Attorney or Agent, stating that such an application is intended to be made at such Court, and setting forth shortly the grounds of such intended application, but such notice shall not operate as a stay of proceedings unless the Court shall otherwise order. And if any money paid into Court under any execution or order in the suit shall not have been paid out when such notice in writing shall be given to the Clerk of the Court, the Clerk of the Court shall retain the same to abide the event of such application or until the Court shall otherwise order. And if no such application be made the money shall if required be paid over to the party in whose favour the judgment was made unless the Court shall otherwise order. And if such notice be not given in manner aforesaid, or, if such application be not given at the Court mentioned in the notice, no application for a new trial or to set aside the proceedings, shall be subsequently made. In case the Court shall grant a new trial, the order granting the same shall be in the form given in the Schedule.

33. Where under section 23 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, the Magistrate dismisses the plaint upon the merits he shall make an order of dismissal and may upon the application of the defendant furnish him with a certificate in the form given in the Schedule which said certificate afterwards upon being produced without further proof shall, unless the order of dismissal be reversed on appeal, be a bar to any subsequent plaint for the same cause of action. Dismissal on merits.

ARBITRATION.

34. If the parties to an action under section 26 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, desire that the matter in difference between them in the action be referred to the final decision of an Arbitrator or Arbitrators, they may apply to the Court in writing at any time before final judgment for an order of reference and the Court may on such application make an order of reference accordingly. Order of reference.

35. The Court shall by this order refer to the Arbitrator or Arbitrators the matters in difference in the action which they are required to determine, and fix such time as it may think reasonable for the delivery of the answer: Provided, however, that in case of a difference of opinion between the Arbitrators, the Court may appoint an Umpire. Time—appointment of Umpire.

36. If in any case of reference to arbitration any Arbitrator or Umpire shall die or refuse, or become incapable to act, the Court may appoint a new Arbitrator or Umpire in place of the person so dying or refusing or becoming incapable to act. Death of Arbitrator or Umpire.

37. The award must be in writing and shall find conclusively on the matters referred to and may not find on the contingency of any matter of fact being afterwards substantiated. When several matters are referred, it shall find severally as to each of such matters. Form of award.

JUDGMENT SUMMONS.

- Procedure. 38. Where the judgment-creditor seeks to bring a judgment-debtor before the Court he shall make application to the Court in the form given in the Schedule hereto annexed. Such application shall be accompanied by an affidavit.
- Form of and service of. 39. The judgment summons under section 39 of the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, shall be in the form No. 18 in the Schedule, and shall be served personally on the judgment debtor; but if it is made to appear on oath to the Court that prompt personal service is for some good reason impracticable, and that delay is likely to render the application of no effect, the Court may make such order for substituted service under sub-section 2 of section 11 of the said Ordinance, or other such service as the Court may think necessary.
- Proof of service. 40. The service of a judgment summons when made out of the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the summons, may be proved by affidavit duly stamped.
- Time of service. 41. A judgment summons shall be served not less than three clear days before the day on which the judgment debtor is required to appear, and not until the time of appeal has expired. The hearing of a judgment summons may be adjourned from time to time.
- Payment after commitment. 42. When an order of Commitment for non-payment of money is issued, the defendant may, at any time before he is delivered into the custody of the Superintendent or Keeper of a Prison, pay to the Bailiff holding the Warrant of Commitment the amount endorsed thereon as that on the payment of which he may be discharged, and on receiving that amount the Bailiff shall at once discharge the defendant, and shall forthwith pay over the amount to the Clerk of the Court from which the Warrant of Commitment was issued.
- Costs. 43. All costs incurred by the judgment creditor in enforcing an order shall, unless the Court otherwise order, be deemed to be due in pursuance of the order.
- Change in Parties by death, &c. 44. Where any change has taken place after judgment by death, assignment, or otherwise in the parties entitled to take proceedings to enforce the judgment or order, or in the parties liable to such proceedings,
- (1.) The party alleging himself to be entitled to enforce the judgment or order may apply on affidavit to the Magistrate for leave to issue the necessary process accordingly. The Magistrate may, if satisfied that the party so applying is entitled to issue such process, make an order to that effect, or may order that any issue or question necessary to determine the rights of the parties shall be tried in the ordinary way in which any question in an action may be tried. In either case the Magistrate may impose such terms as to costs or otherwise as shall be just.
- (2.) The party liable to the proceedings shall not be proceeded against by way of execution without a plaint or summons upon the judgment, the proceedings in which shall be the same as in ordinary cases. When a judgment has been given against a person deceased, his executors or administrators may in the same manner be sued upon the judgment.

(3.) Any order made under this rule ex parte shall be drawn up and served as an ordinary summons is now served, on the person to be affected thereby and proceedings thereon shall not issue until fourteen days at least have elapsed after the service of the order. 24. All claims for subsistence allowance and travelling expenses must be made out in the form attached to these Regulations.

25. Claims for subsistence allowance and travelling expenses must be rendered and paid as promptly as possible; any case of unnecessary delay will render a claim liable to be rejected.

27. The certificate of the Head of the Department concerned implies that he has personally satisfied himself that the claim is reasonable and that the claimant was travelling on duty during the time specified.

CIRCULAR.

Downing Street,
26th October, 1910.

SIR,—I have the honour to transmit, for your information, copies of an Order in Council of the 13th of October, 1910, providing for the recognition in the United Kingdom of the loadline certificates issued to Swedish ships by the Swedish authorities under the Swedish Royal Ordinance of 21st May last.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,

The Officer administering

ORDER IN COUNCIL OF 13TH OCTOBER, 1910, RELATING TO THE RECOGNITION OF
SWEDISH LOADLINE CERTIFICATES.

AT THE COURT OF SAINT JAMES'S, THE 13TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1910.

PRESENT,

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by Section four hundred and forty-five of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, it is enacted that where the Board of Trade certify that the laws and regulations for the time being in force in any foreign country and relating to overloading and improper loading, are equally effective with the provisions of that Act relating thereto, His Majesty in Council may direct that on proof of a ship of that country having complied with those laws and regulations, she shall not, when in a port of the United Kingdom, be liable to detention for non-compliance with the said provisions of that Act, nor shall there arise any liability to any fine or penalty which would otherwise arise for non-compliance with those provisions:

And whereas by section one of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1906, provision, as is more particularly therein mentioned, is made for applying to foreign ships while they are within any port in the United Kingdom certain sections of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, which relate to loadline, without prejudice to any direction of His Majesty in Council given under the said section four hundred and forty-five of the last-mentioned Act:

And whereas the Board of Trade have certified that certain statutory regulations which have been approved by the Swedish Government relating to overloading, so far as regards the assignment of loadlines to Swedish ships, are equally effective with the corresponding regulations in force in this country respecting the assignment of loadlines to British Merchant ships:

Now therefore, His Majesty in Council doth direct that on proof that Swedish ships have complied with the aforesaid Swedish regulations, such ships shall not, when in ports of the United Kingdom, be liable to detention for non-compliance with the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Acts relating to overloading, nor shall there arise any liability to any fine or penalty which would otherwise arise for non-compliance with those provisions.

ALMERIC FITZ ROY.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 30TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1910.

DA SILVA, Appellant,

versus

WIDDUP, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge that the appellant being the holder of a licence for a retail spirit shop did, between the hours of 11 p.m., on Saturday, the 9th July, 1910, and 5 a.m. on the following Monday, to wit, 11.30 p.m. on Saturday, keep open his shop for the purpose of selling therein.

The first reason for appeal questions the Magistrate's jurisdiction. This Court not being satisfied that objection to the jurisdiction of the Magistrate was "formally taken" before him, as required by Ord. 13 of 1893, sect. 9 (1), this reason, which prima facie under sect. 37. Ord. 10 of 1893 could not be sustained, was not a good.

The two reasons of appeal which were argued are, (1) that the evidence did not establish that the time when the shop was open was after 11 p.m. according to "local mean time," and (2) that it was not proved that the shop was kept open for the purpose of selling.

Ord. 14 of 1891, sect. 5 (22), requires the provisions as to time in sect. 3. Ord. 20 of 1902, under which the charge is brought, to be construed as referring to the local mean time at the place where the offence is committed. But the case of Curtis v. Marsh (28 L.J. Ex. 36) shows that that local mean time, in the absence of evidence that the clocks in any place are set by the time determined at some other place, can be learnt from the clocks in use at that place. In the present case, on the evidence that the clock at the police station showed the time was 11 p.m. when the police started for the shop which was $\frac{1}{4}$ miles off, and that on arrival at the shop, the time by P.C. Gooding's watch was 11.30 p.m. and by the shop clock 11.15 p.m. the Magistrate might, in the absence of evidence leading to another conclusion, safely conclude that it was after 11 p.m. by local mean time.

From the evidence for the prosecution that the doors and windows of the shop were open and the lights therein lit, that many persons were inside, that two persons were drinking from a bottle of rum before them and another bottle was on the counter before others and that the appellant said his being open so late was his wife's fault as she should have looked at the clock, the Magistrate (if he believed the witnesses, as he says he did) might I think reasonably infer that the shop was kept open for the purpose of selling spirituous liquors.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

SAMAROO, appellant.

versus

BIJOA et al. respondent.

This is an appeal from an acquittal of the respondents on a charge of larceny of a brown cow.

The sole question raised by this appeal is, whether the Magistrate's finding that animus furandi was not established, is reasonably sustainable on the evidence.

The Magistrate finds that the cow was the property of the appellant and that the respondents took possession of it, and it is urged on behalf of the appellant that as the respondents took the cow from a pasture which they had no right to enter, and placed another brand on the cow, the appellant's brand thereon being clearly visible, the evidence sufficiently showed animus furandi, there being no conclusive evidence of any bona fide mistake or claim of right on the part of the respondents.

The respondents caught the cow by day, in the presence of others, and when told by one Keydoo not to brand it, as it was the appellant's, said that it was their father's. Bijoo gave evidence on his own behalf, and stated that the cow was one of his father's cows which he looks after, that he did not see it was already branded until he had put his father's brand on it, and that he then went to the police station and reported that after branding a cow he found it had another brand on it. The Magistrate states in the reasons for his decision that he believes the defendant Bijoo took the cow believing that it was his father's property and that Bobby never acted independently in the matter but simply as his brother Bijoo's agent, helping him to catch the cow.

The Court does not readily interfere with an acquittal (Hing Cheong & Co. v. Gonsalves, 15th May, 1903) and on the evidence before him, the Magistrate, if satisfied, as no doubt he was of the witnesses' credibility, might, in my opinion, reasonably conclude that animus furandi was not established.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 26TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1910.

versus

BOODHIA as Executrix of BARTOO.

The plaintiff claims from the defendant the sum of $305 being, firstly, $480 being the amount of a certain promissory note made by defendant's testator in favour of plaintiff on 28th August, 1907, and secondly, $25, the amount of a certain promissory note made by the defendant's testator also in favour of plaintiff dated 4th December, 1909. The defendant consented to judgment as regards the note for $25 and obtained leave to defend as to the one for $480. Her defence being a denial of the making of such note by Bartoo and an allegation that the same is a forgery.

The plaintiff is a money-lender and it appears that several persons were in the habit of making promissory notes for him. He states that on the 28th August, 1907, Bartoo came to him and asked for a loan of $300 and agreed to give him a pro-note for $480—$180 being for interest. They went to one Seetahall who wrote notes for Ramgoabin, but as they had no stamp—they left Seetahall and went to the shop of one Da Silva to get the note written. There they met one Jansen and he at Da Silva's request wrote the note, the paper and stamps for same being purchased from Da Silva and that the money passed. The plaintiff's evidence is corroborated by Jansen and Da Silva.

The defendant says that Bartoo never told her that he owed the plaintiff any other sum than $25 being amount of the note for which sentence has been given and that she never heard of the note for $480 until after Bartoo's death when she went to plaintiff to pay him the $25. Evidence for the defence was given, and I believe it, that the plaintiff was present at Bartoo's house on the day of his death and persons present asked what amounts Bartoo owed and they were told in plaintiff's presence and within his hearing what debts Bartoo had said he owed, including the one of $25 to the plaintiff and that the plaintiff said nothing whatever as to the note for $480. A witness, L. Crawford, states that he had done business for the plaintiff and had on several occasions gone through the plaintiff's promissory notes for him to ascertain when they became due and that the note for $480 sued on was not amongst them. Mr. Fowler, of the Treasury, proved that Da Silva held no licence to sell stamps in the year 1907, but that he applied for a licence in 1908. It was urged by counsel for the plaintiff that Da Silva might have had the stamps and sold them without a licence, but I do not think it is at all likely, under the circumstances that he would have had in his possession 24 cents stamps.

I am not satisfied from the evidence that the man Bartoo made the note in question.

I give judgment for the defendant with costs.

JANKI.

This is an opposition to transport of lot 257, in that part of Georgetown called Queenstown Ward with the buildings and erections thereon.

After opposition was entered the defendant deposited in the Registry of Court the sum of $111.50 to abide the result of such opposition. The plaintiff claims the sum of $61.50 being 5% commission on $1,100, the amount of the purchase money of the said property and $6.50, the cost of advertising same.

It is clear that the plaintiff in this case was informed by his clerk Frank Wight that he had obtained the sale of this property and that he in consequence caused the same to be advertised in The "Daily Argosy" of April 15, 1910, in consequence of such advertisement the property was brought to the notice of Mr. Verbeke who ultimately purchased the same from the defendant for the sum of $1,100. From the evidence it also appears that the same property had been given to Percy Wight, of Walter Bagot & Co., to sell and was advertised by that firm on 14th November, 1909, but was not sold. Frank Wight at that time was in the employ of Walter Bagot, but on the 5th or 6th of April, 1910, severed his connection and went as clerk to plaintiff. Frank Wight in his evidence states that on the 11th or 12th April, 1910, he saw the defendant, told her he had left Walter Bagot & Co. and was then in the employ of plaintiff and asked her for the sale of the property in behalf of plaintiff. This the defendant denied. The question to decide is—did the defendant give the property to Frank Wight on behalf of plaintiff to sell. I am satisfied that the plaintiff believed this to be so and accordingly advertised the same, but I am not satisfied from Frank Wight's evidence and from his demeanour in the witness box, that such was the case.

Judgment for defendant with costs.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 22ND DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

ATKINSON, Appellant.

versus

ATKINSON, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the dismissal of an application by the appellant for an order relieving her from the obligation of cohabiting with her husband, the respondent, and directing him to pay her a weekly sum for her use. The application was based on the alleged unlawful desertion of the appellant by the respondent in the month of August, 1910.

It appears from the evidence that in 1892, the respondent left the appellant in Barbados and came to this colony, and that they have never lived together since then, that the appellant followed him here to Bent Street where he was living and he threatened to kill her if she entered his house, that she about five years ago consulted her lawyer and met the respondent at her lawyer's office when he said before he would support her he would leave the colony, that subsequently the respondent paid her four shillings and sixpence a week for four years, and then after an interval of non-payment was induced by his clergyman to give her three shillings a week which he paid up to the beginning of last August since which date he has paid her nothing. The appellant states that the respondent on her going to him in 1906, and asking him to take her back, ran her out of his house and said he would shoot her and that she was afraid he would kill her. The respondent before the Magistrate said in defence that they had been separated for years by consent and that he would take her back and support her, he denied her ever asking him to take her back, but admitted that at her lawyer's office he said "rather than support her I'd leave the colony."

The Magistrate held that, in accordance with the decision in Bradshaw v. Bradshaw (61 J.P. p. 8), where husband and wife had been living apart by mutual consent there could be no desertion without prior resumption of cohabitation, that there must be active withdrawal from an existing cohabitation to constitute desertion, that in this case the act of desertion took place in Barbados outside his jurisdiction, and that there had been subsequently in this colony a mutual agreement to live apart five years ago when the appellant agreed to accept a weekly sum, and since then there had been no cohabitation. He therefore dismissed the application.

The reasons for appeal (shortly stated) are, that the decision is erroneous in law: (a) the evidence not establishing a mutual agreement to live apart, the acceptance of a weekly sum by the appellant from the respondent not being sufficient to prove this; (b) though the respondent first deserted the appellant at Barbados, desertion is a continuing offence and the evidence shewing that the respondent refused to receive her on her coming to this colony, the Magistrate had jurisdiction and should have made the order applied for; and (c) the case is not governed by the decision in Bradshaw v. Bradshaw.

Ord. 19 of 1905, is not a penal statute, but is one which confers on married women under certain circumstances rights enforceable by means of orders obtainable in a Magistrate's Court. Hence the question before the Magistrate was, not whether he could try a charge of a criminal offence committed outside his jurisdiction, but whether he could take notice of facts occurring outside his jurisdiction which gave the applicant a right to claim relief before him. This question must, I think, be answered in the affirmative (cf. Huntington v. Attrill, L.R. Ap. Cas. 1893, p. 150; Ratcliff v. Ratcliff, 1 Sw. and T. at p. 470; Chudley v. Chudley, 17 Cox C. C. at p. 698). It may be that if desertion was to be regarded as a specific act and not as a continuing course of conduct, and if the specific act took place outside the Magistrate's Judicial District he could not hear the case, "the cause of complaint" (in the words of sect. 2, Ord. 19 of 1905) not having "wholly or partially arisen" in his district. But as laid down in Wilkinson v. Wilkinson (58 J.P. 415) desertion is a continuing course of conduct and the later stages of the respondent's conduct were within the Magistrate's district. The question, therefore, for the Magistrate to decide was whether, having regard to the whole of the husband's conduct from and inclusive of his leaving his wife in Barbados up to the date of the trial, there was sufficient evidence of desertion at that date.

The determination of this question turns on whether the parties are shewn to have been living apart by mutual consent, from the time when they met at the appellant's lawyer's office about five years ago. There is no evidence before the Court of what took place at that meeting beyond the respondent's refusal to support his wife. The fact of weekly payments being subsequently made to the appellant would not be sufficient per se to establish an agreement binding under Roman Dutch Law between husband and wife to cease cohabitation, nor would it under English law, in the absence of a specific agreement to live apart, such e.g., as a separation deed, per se establish a separation by mutual consent (see e.g., Brown v. Brown, 79 L.T. 102), and in the present case, when taken in conjunction with the evidence that it was the respondent who separated from the appellant in Barbados, that he would not receive her on her coming to this colony and that he used threats to injure her when she was willing to return, the fact that she for some years received from him a weekly allowance is not in my opinion reasonably sufficient to support the conclusion, that the living apart was in accordance with the appellant's wish and voluntary consent. The principle laid down in Bradshaw v. Bradshaw (ubi sup.), therefore, is not applicable in this case.

The sole question which remains is whether the respondent's offer made before the Magistrate to take the appellant back and support her takes away her right to obtain an order. In Heard v. Heard (60 J.P. 426), where Justices had refused to make an order, the respondent had offered before them to take back his wife, and this was on appeal brought to the notice of the Probate Division of the High Court, but the Court notwithstanding remitted the case to the Justices to be dealt with, which appears to show that the Court agreed with the counsel's argument, that such offer could not defeat the wife's right to the relief sought, which right had already accrued. On the evidence before the Court as to the respondent's previous conduct the offer made in Court to take back the appellant cannot, in my opinion, be regarded as a bona fide offer and as defeating her right to relief (cf. Kershaw v. Kershaw, 51 J.P. 646).

The appeal is, therefore, allowed with costs, and the orders applied for made, the weekly sum to be paid being fixed at five shillings.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

FULL COURT (APPEAL COURT.)

THIS 18TH DAY OF MARCH, 1910.

JONES, Appellant.

VERSUS

PORTER, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a decision of Hewick, J., dismissing an opposition entered by the appellant to the transport by the respondent of a piece of land forming part of Plantation Soesdyke and known as "Lucy's Delight."

The ground of opposition relied on was that the defendant from the year 1881 up to the year 1904 or 1906 paid rent to the plaintiff and her predecessors in title, while the defendants on the other hand, denies having paid rent as alleged and claimed that he had by prescription become the owner of the said land. The learned Judge held that the opposer had no title to the land and right to oppose the transport, that there was no letting and hiring (locatio conductio) between the plaintiff or her predecessors in title and the defendant, that even if there was a lease of some kind the defendant having been in occupation since 1872 became owner by prescription in 1904 and the lease then became null and void, and that a payment made by the defendant in 1906 was made by mistake and had no legal effect on his position.

The reasons for appeal are: (1) that the decision is erroneous in law, because (a) the respondent never had possession in the legal sense of the term, having occupied the land with the consent of the appellant's predecessors in title, and consequently as her agent: (b) the respondent could not change the ground of his occupation: (c) he was estopped from saying his occupation was under and subject to the appellant's predecessors in title and herself: (d) the respondent leased the land from the appellant's predecessors in title and herself and is estopped from denying their title: (e), (f), (g) and (h) the payments made to the appellant's predecessors in title and herself were payments of rent, the only evidence of the contract made by the respondent in 1881 being a hiring for a fixed rent, and the respondent being estopped from saying the payments were not rents, and that even if not rent the said payments were for the use of the land and an acknowledgment of the appellant's title and estopped the respondent from denying such title: (i) there was no evidence that the payment made in 1906 was made by mistake, and (j) the respondent could not acquire the land by prescription as he did not hold it animo sibi habendi, i.e., with the intention of holding it as owner against all the world, but with the intention of holding it subject to the rights of the appellant's predecessors in title and herself.

It is, we think, clear that the respondent did not hold the land in question with the intention of keeping it for himself, but has always recognised that he held it as tenant of the appellant's predecessors in title and of herself. The earliest written note of any payment by the respondent to the appellant's predecessors in title in respect of the land which is now in question speaks of such payment as rent at a specified fixed rate, viz., one shilling for each bed per month (Exhibit D. fo. 33.) In the absence of any evidence to the contrary, it must, we think, be taken as proved that a fixed and ascertained sum was paid for the use of these beds of land and that the contract of letting and hiring locatio conductio was created. But even if the entries of payments of later date be taken to shew that the contract between the respondent and the appellant's predecessors in title was not strictly locatio conductio but rather an innominate contract (de ut des), the use and occupation of the land being given by the one party and compensation not of a fixed amount given in return by the other party, still in either case as the respondent acknowledged, another as owner and did not occupy with intention of holding for himself, he was not a possessor in the legal sense and could not acquire ownership by prescription. Hence the respondent's contract of tenancy did not become null and void as such a contract does when the land let subsequently becomes the property of the hirer.

There is no evidence to shew that the appellant's predecessors in title did not know what land was being occupied by the respondent. On the contrary the evidence that this land has for a long time been known as "Lucy's Delight," and the fact that in the oldest rent book produced (Exhibit D) "Lucy's Delight" is the land which the respondent is stated to be paying rent for, while Soesdyke, part of which belonged to the appellant's predecessors in title is separately mentioned, point to the conclusion that both parties to the contract of tenancy at the time it was made knew to what land the contract related.

It is however urged that although the respondent may not be the owner of the land, the appellant was bound to prove that she was legal owner, before the Court could give judgment in his favour. The general rule no doubt in opposition actions, is that the party opposing must shew a title to oppose. But it is a well established principle, that in any action a plaintiff is not bound to do more than prove his right as against the defendant, and we know of no authority for holding that opposition actions are not governed by this principle. If therefore in any such action the defendant is by law precluded from contesting any matters otherwise requiring proof by the plaintiff, it follows that the plaintiff in that action is exempt from the necessity of proving them, however necessary it might be to do so if some other person was defendant. In the present case the respondent appears on the evidence to be the appellant's tenant and is estopped from disputing his landlord's title. (Salisbury Gold Mining Co. v. Klipriverberg Estate and Gold Mining Co., 11 C. L. J. 63, cited Dig. C. L. J. p. 670: dictum of Kotze C.J., in African Gold Recovery Co. v. Lace and Thompson, 1 Transvaal Of. Rep. at p. 246: cf. Voet xix. 2. 32, Schorer's Note, 386 to Grot. III. 19. 5: Lasker v. Crapper, 1 Kos. 303) and the appellant as against the respondent was relieved from the burden of proving his ownership of the land.

For these reasons we think the judgment of the Court should be in favour of the appellant and the appeal is allowed with costs; but the present decision, it may be added in no way establishes the appellant's right to pass transport of this land.

FULL COURT—(APPEAL COURT.)

THIS 6TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

In re TAT v. MAN-SON-HING, ex parte MAN-SON-HING, AND in re TAT v. MAN-SON-HING, ex parte TAT.

In this action the defendant Man-Son-Hing, on the 8th November last, filed an application for final leave to appeal to the Privy Council from the judgment of this Court given on the 3rd of December, 1909, and on the 10th November, the plaintiff, John Tat, filed an application for an order rescinding the order of the 15th December, 1909, by which conditional leave to appeal was granted to the defendant. Notice of each application having been given to the opposite party, the two applications came on for hearing on the 22nd November, and by consent of all parties were heard together as cross applications.

Conditional leave to appeal was granted on the 15th December, 1909, on condition of the appellant within three months from the 3rd December, 1909, the date of his petition for leave, giving security in the amount then fixed, for the prosecution of his appeal and for the payment of all costs which might be payable by him. The security offered not being approved by the plaintiff, the matter was submitted to the Court, and on the 14th February, 1910, the proposed surety and the bond to be given by him were approved by the Court, and on the 16th February, that bond was executed.

On the 16th February, 1910, the Order-in-Council of the 10th January, 1910, regulating appeals to the Privy Council had not been published here (that order appearing for the first time in the Gazette of the 12th March last), and the Order-in-Council of the 20th June, 1831, relating to such appeals was apparently then in force. Rule "Eleventh" of that Order provided that if the security to be given by an appellant "be completed within three months "from the date of the petition for leave to appeal, "then and not otherwise the Court from which such "appeal is brought shall make an order allowing such "appeal" and the appellant shall then be at liberty to prosecute the appeal. Such orders have been generally made soon after the completion of the security on an informal ex parte application by the appellant to the Registrar to obtain the order from the Court, and that Order-in-Council did not contain the express provisions to be found in R. 17 and R. 18, of the new Order-in-Council. But there is no saving clause in the new Order providing that any proceedings begun under the previous Order thereby revoked should be continued under the previous Order, and (as was not contended by the appellant's counsel), the defendant's right of appeal not having been completed before the new Order-in-Council came into operation, in accordance with the general rule that any law introducing changes in procedure applies in the absence of such a saving clause, to all proceedings taken after it comes into force (Wright v. Hale, 30 L.J. Ex. 40, per Lord Wensleydale in A.G. v. Willem, 33 L.J. Ex. 227) the application in this case for final leave to appeal must be made under the existing Order-in-Council and is governed thereby. It is, however, contended on behalf of the defendant that the final order required by the old Order-in-Council would have been made by the Court, as a matter of course, if applied for after the security bond was executed on the 16th February last, that the non-obtaining of such order was due to misapprehension of the matter by the defendant's advisers, his counsel thinking that an order granting final leave to appeal had been made, the managing clerk (not himself a solicitor) of the defendant's solicitor, thinking that on the bond being executed no further order of the Court was necessary, and not being aware, and (to the best of his belief) the defendant's solicitor himself, not being aware that application ought to have been made for a final order: that the plaintiff also and his advisers believed that an order granting final leave to appeal was unnecessary, two applications for dismissal of the appeal under R. 21 of the Order-in-Council having been made, and the plaintiff's counsel having stated at the hearing of the second application that final leave to appeal had been given, and that under these circumstances the Court should now grant final leave.

On the plaintiff's part it is denied that he or any of his advisers understood that when the security bond was completed the defendant was entitled to proceed with his appeal without further application to or order of the Court, and it is urged that the non-obtaining of the final order is due to the defendant's negligence, that he has in every respect been guilty of great and unnecessary delay in connection with the prosecution of the appeal, and that therefore an order granting final leave to appeal should not be made but the order granting conditional leave should be rescinded.

It may be that if applied for after the 16th February last, final leave to appeal would under the old Order-in-Council have been granted as of course, but the present application (as already said) is governed by the present Order-in-Council, R. 17 whereof provides that if an appellant who has obtained conditional leave to appeal, and who has (as in the present case) complied with the condition imposed on him, fails to apply with due diligence for an order granting final leave, the Court may on the respondent's application rescind the order granting conditional leave and make such consequential orders as may be necessary. The effect of this is that, in the absence of special circumstances, if the Court, in view of all the facts is in any case satisfied that due diligence has not been shown, the order granting conditional leave must be rescinded.

In the present case the final order might have been applied for on the 16th February, immediately after the security bond was completed, but the application is not made till the 8th November, i.e., after the lapse of nearly nine months. It is, we think, clear that unless this delay is satisfactorily explained the defendant must be held to have failed to apply with due diligence. The explanation offered is wholly insufficient to justify or excuse this delay. No reason is given for the defendant's counsel thinking a final order had been obtained, he does not appear to have been asked to advise whether an order should be applied for, it was not part of his duty as counsel in the action to ascertain the precise condition in which the appeal proceedings stood and he may well have believed that the solicitor in the cause had seen that all necessary steps were taken during his absence as mentioned in Mr. Nicholson's affidavit. Nor does the fact that the defendant's solicitor whose duty it was to see that each step in the matter was taken at and in the right time and way left (as appears from Mr. Nicholson's affidavit) the matter in the hands of his managing clerk, who is not a solicitor and who did not know that a further order was required by the Order-in-Council, exonerate the defendant from the consequences of the prolonged delay in applying for such order. Nor is this a case in which a party having taken promptly all other steps and having substantially done all else that is necessary in the prosecution of his appeal in good time seeks to supply some omission which has inadvertently been overlooked. On the contrary the defendant's conduct throughout has been marked by persistent delay: he having taken no step to procure the preparation and despatch of the record till the 18th June (i.e., four months after the security bond was executed), when he called on the Registrar to prepare that record, and even then he having retained in his possession, and not delivered to the Registrar till 3rd October (more than three months later) exhibits returned to him after the final hearing of the action, some (if not all) of which were necessary for the preparation of the record.

The circumstances that the respondent also was until recently under the impression that final leave to appeal had been given, and that he has made two applications on the 23rd June, and the 20th October, to the Court for a certificate that the appeal had not been effectually prosecuted do not, in our opinion, cure the appellant's lack of due diligence. The first of those applications was withdrawn at the hearing, and the second was dismissed "without prejudice in any way" to any application made by either party, it was not the duty of the respondent to take any step for perfecting the leave to appeal and he may reasonably have presumed that final leave had been given on an ex parte application: hence the respondent's admitted ignorance of the fact that it has not been given does not improve the appellant's position; nor is the respondent debarred from objecting to final leave being now given by the two applications made by him in ignorance of that fact, which applications terminated as already mentioned, even if (which in our opinion is not the case) the obtaining final leave to appeal can in view of the provisions of the Order-in-Council in any case be waived or dispensed with. The argument that the appellant was guilty of no delay in applying for final leave after he learnt at the hearing of the second application that an order granting final leave was required by law—a matter which he should have known—is of no weight.

After careful consideration of all the facts we think the appellant has been guilty of gross negligence and excessive delay, and that final leave to appeal cannot now be granted, but that the order granting conditional leave to appeal must be rescinded.

The sum of $10,336.72, deposited in the British Guiana Bank in pursuance of the order of this Court of the 23rd December, 1909, together with the interest accrued thereon must be paid to the respondent, the security bond given in further pursuance of that order must (after payment by the plaintiff to the defendant of such sum (if any) as he may under the judgment of the Court of the 3rd December, 1909, be liable to pay the defendant in respect of costs) be vacated and also the security bond given by the defendant and his surety in accordance with the order of the Court of the 14th February, 1910, must (after payment by the defendant to the plaintiff of such sum (if any) as he may under the said judgment of the 3rd December, 1909, be liable to pay the plaintiff in respect of costs and after payment of the costs allowed in respect of the present proceedings) be vacated.

The Court orders the costs of these proceedings to be paid by the defendant, his application being dismissed with costs and the plaintiff's cross application being allowed with costs; but one set of costs only is allowed to the plaintiff's solicitor and counsel in respect of the hearing of the applications, and the plaintiff must also bear the cost of both parties in respect of the affidavit of John Tat, which could not be used on the hearing of the applications.

FULL COURT (APPEAL COURT.)

THIS 6TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

In re TAT v. MAN-SON-HING, and defendant's application to stay execution on judgment of 3rd December, 1909.

The decision just given is not, in our opinion, a final judgment in the sense in which that term is used in the Order-in-Council. The final judgment in the action was given on the 3rd December, 1909, and the present decision is one on the applications made under the Order-in-Council, its effect being that the right of appeal from the Court's final judgment has been forfeited by the defendant's negligence in prosecuting it. The Order-in-Council does not, we think, give any appeal as of right from this decision, none is expressly given and it is manifest that if one were allowed, the evil of lengthy delays in prosecuting appeals would be not remedied but intensified by the provisions of the Order. It is, we think, the duty of the Court in determining the question raised in applications like the ones just disposed of, to consider all the circumstances with a view to deciding whether due diligence has been shown, and if it decides in the negative and rescinds its previous order, the only course open to the negligent appellant who desires to continue his appeal is, we think, to apply to the King-in-Council for special leave to appeal. It may be added that in this case in view of the facts before us at the hearing the Court would not, if it had a discretion, to allow an appeal, have been prepared to exercise it, but we think there is no such discretion conferred on the Court.

Under these circumstances the application just made is in effect one to stay execution pending an application to the Privy Council for special leave to appeal, and we think the previous decisions of the Full Court refusing to stay execution in such cases (see e.g., In re Brown v. D.R. Co., 25th February, 1907), must be followed, no reason for departing from them being shown. The application is therefore refused.

13th December, 1910.

THE following Bill, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS (MILK) BILL, 1911.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

The object of this Bill is to repeal the provision in the Sale of Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892, under which it is not necessary to divide a sample of milk bought for the purpose of analysis with the seller, as is the case with all other articles bought for that purpose, and under the Bill samples of milk must be dealt with like all other articles, except that it is not to be necessary to produce any of the samples at the hearing of the case if proceedings are afterwards taken. The reason of this is that in this climate milk rapidly ferments and in many cases it would be impossible to produce the sample, as it is often lost through the bursting of the bottle or the cork being blown out by the fermentation.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE SALE "OF FOOD AND DRUGS ORDINANCE, 1892, WITH "REGARD TO MILK."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

Amendment of section 21 of Ord. 9 of 1892.

1.—(1.) The words "Provided always that this section shall not apply to samples of milk obtained under section nineteen of this Ordinance," at the end of section twenty-one of the Sale of Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892, are hereby repealed.

(2.) The following words shall be deemed to be inserted at the end of sub-section (3) of the said section :—

"Provided that in the case of milk it shall not be necessary to produce any part of the sample so taken."

Short Title and Construction.

2. This Ordinance may be cited as the Sale of Food and Drugs (Milk) Ordinance, 1911, and shall be read as one with the Sale of Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892.

to account.

54.—(1.) If any such officer fails to render such account, or to produce and deliver up all the vouchers and receipts relating to the same in his possession or power, or to pay the balance thereof when thereunto required, or if, for three days after being thereunto required, he fails to deliver up to the directors, or to any person appointed by them to receive the same, all papers and writings, property, effects, matters, and things in his possession or power relating to the execution of this or the Special Ordinance, or of any Ordinance incorporated therewith or belonging to the Company, then on complaint thereof being made to a Justice, such Justice shall summon such officer to appear before a Justice at a time and place to be set forth in such summons, to answer such charge.

(2.) On the appearance of such officer, or, in his absence, on proof that such summons was personally served upon him, or left at his last known place of abode, such Justice may hear and determine the matter in a summary way, and may adjust and declare the balance owing by such officer; and if it appears either upon confession of such officer, or upon evidence, or upon inspection of the accounts that any moneys of the Company are in the hands of such officer or owing by him to the Company, such Justice may order such officer to pay the same; and, if he fails to pay the amount, it shall be lawful for such Justice to grant a warrant to levy the same by distress, or in default thereof, to commit the offender to gaol, there to remain without bail for any term not exceeding three months, unless the same is sooner paid.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 9TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

SYNADA BEE

versus

W. A. CRAIGEN.

The plaintiff claims from defendant the sum of $278.91, being balance of account due, owing and payable by the defendant to the plaintiff for goods sold and delivered and moneys paid and advanced by the plaintiff to and for the defendant at his request between the 1st day of June, 1910, and the 9th day of August, 1910, both dates inclusive.

The defendant in his defence denies that the plaintiff sold him goods or advanced moneys at his request as stated or that he ever dealt with the plaintiff during the said period or at all and alleges that the plaintiff, through her attorney Meerza, dealt with one Ameerbusk. That the said Ameerbusk agreed with the said Meerza that he should be further supplied with goods and that the defendant should be surety for the payment of the same. It is also alleged that there was a further agreement between Ameerbusk, the defendant, and Meerza, as attorney for plaintiff that whatever greenheart or other wood was supplied by Ameerbusk to the plaintiff that credit should be given for the same as against the account for goods supplied to Ameerbusk; that certain greenheart and other wood was so supplied to the amount of $327.10 which should be placed to the credit of Ameerbusk, leaving a balance in favour of the said Ameerbusk.

The defendant admits that the goods mentioned in the Bill of Particulars, from 1st June, 1910, to 22nd June, 1910, were sold, supplied and delivered to Ameerbusk in terms of the verbal agreement but denies that any of the goods mentioned in the Bill of Particulars from 1st July, 1910, to 9th August, 1910, were sold, supplied and delivered to the said Ameerbusk or to the defendant or that moneys were paid between the said dates for, or on account or at the request of the defendant or the said Ameerbusk.

I am satisfied from the evidence of the plaintiff, his witnesses and the exhibits produced, and also in the absence of any evidence on behalf of the defendant that the defendant agreed with the plaintiff for the supply of goods not as surety for Ameerbusk as alleged but on his own account and that the goods now sued for were so supplied and delivered to the defendant as per agreement.

As regards the greenheart and other woods supplied by Ameerbusk I am satisfied that the plaintiff has accounted for the same, he having given credit to Ameerbusk for same (see Exhibit A, page 120) and the remainder it appears was given to one Cheddie and the plaintiff to sell but still remains unsold.

It was urged by counsel for the defendant that there was no evidence that prices had been agreed on. Meerza, in his evidence, only stated that the prices charged were fair and reasonable and Mr. Gordon, of J. I. Chapman, gave evidence that with very few exceptions the prices charged were similar to those charged by his firm on corresponding dates. Notice was given to produce a pass-book kept as between plaintiff and defendant but the same was not produced and no evidence was given as to the contents of the same, the witness Usuff only relating "I wrote a pass-book" at Meerza's instructions as between Meerza and Craigen, I addressed that book to Craigen once "or twice and posted it, on other occasions I gave it to Meerza." I am of opinion that no price was fixed and following the decisions in Blake v. O'Connor, 9th October, 1908, Appellate Jurisdiction; D'Abreu v. Pestana, 19th February, 1910, Limited Jurisdiction; Teixeira v. Gomes, 4th July, 1903, General Civil Jurisdiction, I give judgment for defendant, but without costs.

ANDRIES

versus

MAHAICONY MILLING CO., LTD.

This is an opposition action by which the plaintiff in his own right and as the duly constituted attorney in this colony of James Haywood and others seeks to restrain the sale at execution by the defendant Company of lots 13 and 18, as well as the sale of an undivided $\frac{1}{2}$ in a certain other undivided piece of land all forming part of Plantation Bleyendaal, situate on the left bank of the Canje creek, Berbice River, in this colony.

The only witness examined is the plaintiff who produces his plans of the estate. On the order of these appear lots 13 and 18, and he points out what he believes to be the undivided $\frac{1}{2}$. He admits, however, that 7 of the lots appearing therein were transported and that the heirs demanded a second plan in 1908, which second plan does not contain the transported lots but only shows those still belonging to the original proprietors. Lots 13 and 18, do not appear on this second plan produced, nor can this Court find that the undivided $\frac{1}{2}$ is shown to be thereon.

The opposition must therefore be declared illegal and unavailing, and the action dismissed with costs.

MARTIN BROS.

versus

TELLES.

The plaintiffs in this action seek to recover from the defendant the sum of $466.72, $331.91 thereof being balance due and owing for goods sold and delivered and money lent, and $134.81 due on a promissory note.

In his defence the defendant admits the purchase of the goods mentioned in the claim save and except the items contained in his particulars. He denies that the plaintiffs lent him any money and especially the sums mentioned in his said particulars. He further admits the making of the promissory note but claims that it was paid and satisfied as shown by the accounts rendered to him by the plaintiff on 31st August, 1908. He does not admit the correctness of his share of the profits as found by the plaintiffs and alleges that he has been short credited $301.46, and that he has not been credited with any share of profits made between 1st September, 1908, and 28th February, 1909. By his counterclaim he further claims the sum of $200 for wrongful dismissal.

The plaintiffs by their reply join issue and allege that the engagement of the defendant terminated by mutual consent and deny that any profits were made between the last stock-taking and the date of his dismissal.

The only witness examined was the plaintiff Alfred Martin.

As to defendant's particulars it is admitted by counsel for the plaintiff that the sum of $5.77 in respect of goods sold and $15.50 in respect of loans are incorrectly charged to defendant. The plaintiffs have further failed to prove the sale of goods to the value of $8.94. These three sums therefore with a further $2 charged a second time in error making a total of $32.21 must be deducted from the plaintiffs' account. Two accounts marked respectively K. & M. are put in by the defendant. These were rendered by the plaintiffs on 31st August, 1908, and on 28th February, 1909. By the former the balance due is stated to be $370.34 which includes the promissory note now sued for. A reference to ledger O shows the amount due by defendant at that date to be $235.53, the amount of the note however is not included therein and if this ($134.81) is added it shows the amount shown by the account K to be correct. The latter account M rendered on 28th February, 1909, begins with account rendered 5th August, 1908, $382.89 and then promissory note $134.81. By ledger O, at that date this amount is correct exclusive of the promissory note. This account M, however, shows a balance due including note of $446.53, so that if the amount of the note $134.81 is deducted we have left $311.72, while the amount claimed by plaintiffs' bill of particulars is $331.91, and that shown by ledger O is $343.77, exclusive of $22.78 which is credited after the account is closed and which is admitted by plaintiffs. An examination of plaintiffs' books does not warrant the Court in finding that they have been written up for the purposes of this action as suggested by Counsel although carelessness attaches to them for the manner in which the account M rendered to the defendant was prepared. The note admitted by the defendant to have been made by him is found to be still due and owing to the plaintiffs. As to the various amounts which the defendant alleges have been short credited, the Court finds that the plaintiff is in error when he says that $20.44 is included in the $32.20, credited as profits to 7th June, 1907. The daily sales book shows both these amounts ought to be credited to defendant, that is $20.44 to 7th June, and $32.30 to 30th September. The error in the bill of particulars is due to the "7th June" being copied in the place of "30th September". The result has been that the profits to the first date 7th June, are omitted altogether. Plaintiff admits the omission of $1.05 and $22.78 (this latter amount being the sum credited in the ledger O, after the closing of the account) and the further sum of $17.84 (not $177.26 as stated but not proved by defendant) as profits earned by defendant for August, 1908. He also admits that $24.86 is due to him as his share at 5 per cent. on the profits from 1st September, 1908 to 28th February, 1909. The only other sum is that of $79.33 which the Court finds is included in the $89.52 credited to defendant.

The result therefore is that the defendant is entitled to have the plaintiffs' claim reduced by $32.31 in respect of goods and loans and by the further sum of $87.57 found to be short credited $119.78. As to defendant's counterclaim it is admitted that he was employed by the month and the Court finds he was summarily dismissed on 1st March, without notice and without just and reasonable cause and allows $30 to him in respect thereof. This added to the $119.78 makes $149.78 to be deducted from the plaintiffs' claim of $466.72. Judgment for the plaintiffs for $316.94, and each party is ordered to pay his own costs.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 10TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

FONSECA, Plaintiff

versus

DOWDING, Defendant.

The plaintiff seeks specific performance of a contract of sale alleged to have been made on the 19th May, 1910, on his behalf by Walter Bagot & Co., with the defendant for the sale to and purchase by the latter of "a piece of land in Canal No. 1, West Bank, Demerary, called Endeavour, with all the buildings thereon, save and except the westernmost 50 (fifty) rods of the said piece of land which was transported to S. A. Sprosta, on the 7th May, 1887, and the west half of Plantation Ostend, situate in Canal No. 1 on the west bank of the river Demerary, in the county of Demerary and colony of British Guiana, for the sum of $6,200.

The defence denies the sale to and purchase by the defendant of Plantations Endeavour and Ostend, or either of them as alleged or at all, and avers that if the defendant did agree to purchase, the agreement was subject to a favorable report on the plantations being obtained by him from his brother, that the report was unfavourable and W. Bagot & Co. were so informed on the 22nd May, 1910, that the purchase money (if there was an agreement), was to be paid on the passing of transport, and while admitting that the plaintiff is in possession of the plantations as stated in the statement of Claim, it denies that he was at the date of the agreement or at all ready or willing to transport the said plantations or either of them to the defendant.

It is not contested that on the 19th May last, W. Bagot & Co., on behalf of the plaintiff held an auction sale of certain lands, that the conditions of sale which were read out stated the sale was of "Plantations Endeavour and Ostend with about 1,400 acres of land," that the defendant bid $6,100, but the offer was not accepted and the property was withdrawn. If that bid had been accepted and the property knocked down the defendant, in addition to the sum bid, would have had (according to the conditions of sale) to pay $122, the 2% Church and Poor tax, i.e., in all $6,222, or $22 more than the $6,200 which it is alleged he subsequently agreed to pay (in other words) the only effect of the subsequent private arrangement would be that instead of $122 being paid into the Treasury, $100 would be paid to the vendor, less the auctioneer's commission thereon, and the purchaser would be $22 better off.

It is also uncontested, that in the afternoon of the day of the abortive auction the defendant went to W. Bagot & Co's office, and had an interview with Mr. Wight, the partner who had been conducting the auction, that on the following Sunday, three days later, Wight at the defendant's request went to his house, where the defendant, his brother and Mr. Ward of the Agricultural Department were present and some conversation between Wight and the defendant took place: that on the 3rd June, 1910, the plaintiff's solicitor wrote to the defendant asking him to give his full name and address that the intended transport to him might be advertised, and the defendant did not reply but sent the letter on to Wight; and that on the 29th June the writ in this action was issued.

As to what took place at the interviews between the defendant and Wight on the afternoon of the 19th May at Wight's office and on the following Sunday at the defendant's house, there is a direct conflict of evidence. Wight's account is that after the abortive auction, the plaintiff told him he would accept $6,200 and he (Wight) so told the defendant, who said he would give an answer that afternoon: that in the afternoon the defendant, without any message being sent him, returned and said he would take the place for $6,200 and would pay $500 on account in a few days, and asked Wight to arrange a mortgage on the property for "as much as he could": that no conditions were annexed to the purchase, the defendant not mentioning his brother or making any stipulation as to his brother's inspecting the place or saying he had been or was buying for his brother: that the agreement to purchase was reported to the plaintiff the same day: that at the defendant's house on the following Sunday, Mr. Ward and the defendant's brother said they had visited the place and found it in a bad and much neglected condition, without kokers or drainage and under water, and the defendant said he could not take it under those conditions and asked that the sale be cancelled: that he (Wight) told the defendant he could not himself cancel the sale but would do his best for him and as far as he himself was concerned would waive his claim to commission if the sale were cancelled: that he then left and subsequently saw the plaintiff who declined to cancel the sale, and he saw the defendant and so informed him but the defendant said he was not going to take the place as it was not what he had bought or anything like it, and he had found out the plaintiff had not been getting more than $500 a year from it.

On the other hand the defendant says that he left the auction room without having any conversation with Wight or being told that he could purchase the property for $6,200: that after leaving he heard something from one Sprosta who owns part of Endeavour: and returned to Wight's office in the afternoon, in consequence of a message said to come from Wight, and Wight then told him if he gave $100 more he could have the property, that he said that he did not consider the place worth it, Sprosta having said the place was in very bad order, that Wight said the plaintiff had told him the place was in good order and someone else wanted it, and Wight advised him to purchase as a good investment, that he then said "if we do take the place will you arrange about the money," and Wight said "that will be all right" and he replied "Very well, I'm going to my brother now, he will go and see the place and I will let you know", and then left the office, no mention being made of any payment of $500: that on the following Sunday when he by telephone asked Wight to come to his house, his brother had gone to inspect the property but had not yet returned and he rather expected after what Sprosta had said, his brother would refuse, but although no agreement to purchase had been made or was expected by him to be made, he had sent for Wight that he might hear from his brother himself what his decision was; that when Wright came he (the defendant) did not ask Wight to cancel the sale, there being none, nor was the plaintiff's name mentioned, but he (the defendant) said to Wight that he was trying to put him in a nice fix by trying to sell him an abandoned plantation.

The plaintiff's statement of claim alleges an unconditional contract of sale and purchase, while the statement of defence avers that no contract was made or at most one subject to the condition that a favourable report on the property must be made by the defendant's brother. On this point we believe Mr. Wight's account of what occurred, and that establishes an unconditional contract. Both Wight and the defendant are interested in the matter, but the former, in view of his expressed willingness to forego any claim to commission if the contract were cancelled, does not appear to us likely to be biased in his evidence. It is clear that the defendant made at the auction an unconditional bid of $6,100; which (as already said) with the amount of the Church and Poor Tax exceeded the $6,200, he is said to have subsequently agreed to pay, and his sending for Wight on Sunday was natural if he desired to get out of an agreement previously made which he deemed disadvantageous, but seems a strange thing, if no contract had been made or would be completed till he informed Wight that the terms offered (as he says) were accepted. Also his not at once denying there was a contract, when Mr. Sampson's letter was received, but sending the letter to Wight seems more consistent with the existence of a contract from which he hoped he might be released through Wight's intercession with the plaintiff.

The only other point raised by the pleadings is whether the plaintiff was ready and willing to transport the property, and in the absence of countervailing evidence we think his solicitor's letter of the 3rd June to the defendant shews that he was.

No defence that the defendant was induced to enter into the contract by misrepresentation of the condition of the property is pleaded. Although not raised on the pleadings it is contended that as the evidence shews that the property set up for sale at the auction and subsequently purchased by the defendant was "described as Plantations Endeavour and Ostend with about 1,400 acres of land" the contract was for the purchase of the whole of those plantations, and as the plaintiff appears from the statement of claim to possess only part of Endeavour, the westernmost 50 roods being excepted, and only the west half of Ostend, specific performance will not be enforced. It is open to much doubt whether the defendant can now take this point, he not having raised it in his statement of defence; but even if he can, we think it is untenable, there being no evidence that the land to be transported is less than 1,400 acres in extent, and the evidence shewing that the defendant had never seen the property set up for sale, and that all he knew was that certain lands about 1,400 acres in extent, partly under cultivation, owned by the plaintiff and called Plantations Endeavour and Ostend were set up for sale, and it is impossible to believe that he thought that all the lands either originally or at some previous unknown date in the devolution of the title forming those plantations, whether more or less than 1,400 acres, were the subject of the sale.

We think therefore that the plaintiff is entitled to specific performance of the contract alleged in his statement of claim.

The plaintiff has been continuously since the 19th May, 1910, and still is, in possession of the land sold, and is not shewn to have sustained any damage. Under these circumstances and as the evidence indicates that the purchase money was to be paid and possession delivered on the passing of the transport, the plaintiff's claim for interest on the purchase money cannot be sustained. The evidence that $500 was to be paid within a few days after the contract was made is too vague, to justify any distinction being made between this sum and the rest of the purchase money, nor is any such distinction pleaded.

The plaintiff's title to the lands agreed to be sold has not been questioned by the statement of defence.

The defendant must bear the costs of the action, such costs together with the purchase money to be paid by him immediately on the passing of the transport.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 14TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

ZAMMETT, Plaintiff,

versus

COZIER, Defendant.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District, who, on an interpleader claim made by the appellant claiming a certain black bull levied on by the respondent and $30 as pecuniary compensation for the loss and inconvenience suffered thereby, dismissed the action with costs.

The reason of appeal is that the decision is erroneous in point of law, because (a) the evidence clearly established a complete agreement of sale of the bull in question, the Magistrate having believed the transaction to be a genuine and bond fide one erred in holding that the agreement of sale was not complete or that there remained something yet to be done to give effect to the said sale.

(b) The evidence clearly established that the appellant had possession of the said bull at the time when he paid the purchase money.

(c) The bull being already in his possession when the sale was completed by the payment of the purchase money there was no necessity for any further delivery by the vendor to the appellant.

The evidence establishes and the Magistrate so finds that the bull was on Saturday, the 15th October, when the levy was made, in an open place in Sussex street belonging to one Camacho (from whom appellant rents his butchery) in which place appellant had for six months with Camacho's consent kept his cattle. The evidence further shows that no one else kept cattle in that place, and that the bull was removed there at 8.30 a.m. on Thursday, 13th October, by the judgment-debtor, who, on the evening of the same day, was paid by the appellant the purchase money. The Magistrate further finds that this payment was made bond fide but adds that he cannot consider that without some act on the part of the appellant or judgment-debtor the possession passed ipso facto from the judgment-debtor to the appellant. Where the possession is already in the purchaser the thing sold is considered as delivered on the completion of the sale by the payment of the purchase money. (Van Leeuwen, vol. 1, p. 186, and Maarsdorf, vol. 2, p. 20). So in the present case the sole question is, was the appellant in possession of the bull after it had been placed by the judgment-debtor in the yard where the appellant alone kept cattle?

The Magistrate holds that the judgment-debtor having himself removed the bull there the possession was in him still "certainly quite as much as in Zammett," that is, the appellant. It seems that when the debtor left—at the place where the appellant alone kept his cattle—the animal which he had arranged under certain circumstances to sell to the appellant the possession of it passed to him. The property, however, therein remained in the judgment-debtor until the evening of the same day when the purchase money was paid and the sale thereby completed.

On the question of damages the evidence shows that the appellant was compelled to purchase beef for his customers and thereby suffered loss and inconvenience.

The decision of the Magistrate is reversed. It is ordered that the bull be delivered to appellant and that the respondent pay $10 as damages with costs.

LUNO MOHAMED,

versus

WATSON.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the East Coast Judicial District, who, in an action brought by the respondent against the appellant claiming $25 as expenses incurred by the sale to him of a certain koker not of the nature and quality agreed on gave judgment for the respondent for the amount claimed.

The reasons of appeal are:

1. That the decision is erroneous in law (a) because on a contract of purchase and sale in the event of the article being defective the action can lie only for the excess of the purchased price over the real value, or the restitution of the purchase money unless it is proved that the defendant had knowledge of such defect; (b) because this was not proved and the Magistrate had no power to award damages; (c) that the plaintiff having changed the nature of the said koker it might have sustained the injury complained of subsequent to purchase; and the maxim "caveat emptor" applies; (d) that the plaintiff had and was still using the koker and therefore not entitled to sue in the form and manner he had done.

2. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence.

With regard to (a) and (b) of reason 1 Mr. Abraham for the respondent objects to these reasons being entertained as they were not taken before the Magistrate. No doubt it would be as well that all the points which may arise in any case should be placed before the Magistrate and this should be done in all cases where both parties are represented by Counsel or Solicitor. In view, however, of the Magistrates' Decisions (Appeal) Ordinance No. 13 of 1893, Section 9, which limits the reasons of appeal and requires that only as to one of these (Jurisdiction) must the point be taken before the Magistrate in order to be available on appeal, this Court holds that it is competent for the appellant to raise the question involved in (a) and (b). It is contended that the proper action to have brought was one to reclaim the purchase money paid and that damages could not be awarded unless it was proved that appellant had knowledge of the defect. The Magistrate finds as a fact that the appellant had such knowledge and this Court cannot say that there was no evidence to warrant such a conclusion. The present action is one to recover the loss which the respondent has suffered owing to a defect in the article sold by the appellant who was aware of such defect. In Grotius (Herbert) Book III, Ch. 15, Sect. 17 it is stated that such an action will lie in addition to the actio redhibitoria or actio quanti minoris. It is therefore correctly brought.

The other reasons were argued together and dealt with the findings of the Magistrate on the facts. With these findings this Court will not interfere where as in this case there was evidence on which he could come to the conclusions arrived at.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

GILGIS, Appellant,

versus

GRAHAM, Respondent.

The appellant having on the 1st October, 1908, been adjudged the father of the respondent's child and ordered to pay her two shillings a week, and having for the seven weeks preceding the 20th October last made default in payment, an order for recovery of such arrears with costs by distress was on the 27th October made by the Magistrate, and from this order the present appeal is made.

The only reason for appeal argued is, that the decision is erroneous being based on a document put in evidence which was not an order under Ord. 13 of 1893, nor made in the terms of the statute, the words "for the maintenance and education of the child" being omitted, and which was therefore invalid.

It may be that if the original order was being questioned by appeal in accordance with the decision in Reg. v. Padbury, L.R. 5 Q.B.D. 126, a case under the corresponding English enactment, it would have to be quashed on account of the omission to which attention is now called. But in the present case no appeal was made from the order, and until quashed it was binding and the Magistrate on application to enforce that order by distress had no jurisdiction to enquire into its validity. I think therefore the decision appealed from is right and the appeal is dismissed with costs.

ASHRAFFALY, Appellant,

versus

SANDIFORD, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of unlawfully selling an article of food, to wit, half a pound of ghee not being of the nature, substance and quality demanded, to the prejudice of the purchaser.

The Analyst's certificate put in evidence states a sealed sample of ghee was received from the respondent and declares the result of the analysis as follows:

"I am of opinion that the said sample is adulterated and contains foreign ingredients as under—
"At least forty (40) per cent. of fat other than butter fat."

The Magistrate held that the certificate was not as full as it ought to be but that on it he ought to convict as it said:

(1) "the sample is adulterated" which meant made impure;

(2) "the sample contains foreign ingredients as under," meaning that what appears set out in the body of the certificate is foreign to ghee in its pure state;

(3) "40% of fat other than butter fat" from which inference was that the ghee had not got its 75% of fat (i.e., butter or pure fat) which it must have by Ord. 3 of 1906, sect. 3 (c).

The reasons for appeal are (1) that the decision is erroneous in law (a) the analyst's certificate being insufficient as it does not contain the constituent parts of the sample analysed; (b) the unanalysed part of the sample submitted for analysis was not produced in evidence; (c) the one-third portion retained by the purchaser of the ghee intended to be analysed was not produced before the Magistrate; (d) the Magistrate erred in holding that the words "adulterated" and "foreign ingredients" used in the certificate meant that the sample purchased was not of the nature, substance and quality demanded; (e) the Ordinances do not require ghee to contain 75 per cent. of butter or pure fat, and there was no evidence showing what sort of fat ghee should contain; (2) that the evidence was insufficient to show that the article purchased was not of the nature, substance and quality demanded.

Reasons (1) (a) and (b), I incline to think, are not sufficient, the former because the form of Analyst's certificate under the local law is not precisely the same as that in the English enactment and in this case sufficiently shows that some "foreign" ingredient was contained in the ghee analysed, and the latter reason because there is no provision in the law requiring in a case like the present, part of the sample submitted for analysis to be kept unanalysed and to be produced in evidence. It is, however, unnecessary to consider at length or finally decide on the sufficiency of these reasons or as to the force of reason (c) as in my opinion reason (1) (c) renders the decision appealed from unsustainable.

Section 23 (3) of the Sale of Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892, provides that on the hearing of any complaint or information for an offence against the Ordinance, "the part of the article of food, not being milk obtained under section 191 . . . retained by the purchaser shall be produced." By section 21, the purchaser of any article of food for the purpose of having it analysed is required, if as in this case the vendor wishes it, to divide the article into three parts, one of which he delivers to the seller, another he sends to the analyst, and the third the purchaser himself retains "for future comparison." The production of this third part at the hearing of a complaint for adulteration is made obligatory by section 23 (3) and is, in my opinion, a condition precedent to a conviction. It is urged that such part need not be produced unless called for by the defendant. But the language of the enactment is imperative, no words are inserted in the sub-section indicating that the production is conditional on the defendant's requesting it, and in sub-section (1) of the same section, the Legislature expressly makes such a request a condition of a further analysis, thus showing in accordance with the general rule of construction that where not expressly stated, such condition is not to be implied. The point appears not to have been expressly decided under the corresponding English enactments, but the conclusion arrived at in this case is in harmony with the dicta in Suckling v. Parker (1906), 1 K.B. at p. 532, Lowery v. Hallard, ib. at pp. 401, 402, and Parsons v. Birmingham Dairy Co., 9, Q.B.D. at p. 177, and the provision in the local Ordinance in a separate sub-section is, if possible, clearer and freer from any ambiguity than the one which appears in the English enactment mingled with other provisions.

The decision appealed from is, therefore, reversed and the appeal allowed with costs.

GOMES, Appellant.

versus

BOBB, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the dismissal of a complaint against the respondent for that she having agreed with the appellant on the 1st August last to serve him as a monthly servant and having entered such service on the said day, did on the 4th October last, unlawfully absent herself from such service without reasonable cause or legal notice.

Evidence was given by the appellant before the Magistrate of the making of the contract by the respondent with him on the 1st August, and of service by the respondent thereunder till the 4th October. One W. Daley testified that on the 4th October, "he heard talk in the kitchen between Mrs. Gomes and the respondent," who said she would not work any more but would leave, the contention being over a bottle, that "Mrs. Gomes said something 'about a bottle, and bottle was expensive, defendant (i.e., respondent) broke it and she must pay for it,' 'she said she would leave before she paid for it,' and one E. Butler says she met the respondent on the 4th October, at Mrs. Gomes' place and respondent said "she would leave work because she and Mrs. Gomes had some talk."

The Magistrate states that there was no direct evidence against the respondent, and he thought there was no case for the respondent to answer: that Mrs. Gomes was not called and she was the only one who could have satisfied him there was a case against the respondent; that as far as the evidence went it seemed to disclose the fact that the mistress had told the respondent she must pay for a bottle she broke; that the mistress had no legal right to say this but only to sue the accused; and that he therefore dismissed the case but not on its merits.

The Magistrate does not say whether or not he believed the evidence as to a contract for monthly service having been made and as to the respondent having absented herself from service during a current month. If these facts were proved, then the onus of justifying her conduct lay on the respondent unless the evidence for the appellant prima facie showed such justification. It may be the contract was terminated on the 4th October by the servant on some one of the grounds mentioned in sect. 8 (2) of Ord. 1 of 1883, but the meagre evidence as to some contention about paying for a bottle between her and her employer's wife is too vague and indefinite as to what occurred to be sufficient to show this. The case for the appellant appears to have been closed before the Magistrate. I recall the Magistrate's decision and refer the case back to him directing him to find whether or not a contract for monthly service was made and whether or not the respondent absented herself during a current month and if he finds in the affirmative, then to re-summon the parties and after hearing the respondent and such evidence as she may adduce to give such decision as the law and facts proved require.

If the complaint is finally decided in the appellant's favour the respondent must bear the costs of this appeal otherwise the appellant must bear them.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

CHIN-A-LING, Appellant

versus

REID (Comptroller of Customs), Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction under sect. 164 (9) Ord. 7 of 1884.

The reasons for appeal (shortly stated) are (1) that a substantial illegality affecting the merits of the case has been committed, (a) there being no proof that the charge was interpreted to or understood by the appellant who is a Chinese and can neither read, write, speak nor understand English; and (b) no proof that the interpreter (if any) was sworn as required by law: (2) and (3) that the decision is erroneous in law and unwarranted by the evidence, (a) and (b) in the absence of proof of the facts just mentioned; (c) and (d) there being no evidence of the value of the goods or that the penalty was imposed in accordance with sect. 164 (9) of the Ordinance, and (e) proceedings could only be taken and the charge could only be brought under sect. 194.

The Magistrate is required by law to make known to the defendant the substance of the complaint against him and to take his plea. On the face of the proceedings before me, the defendant's plea is recorded and in the absence of evidence to the contrary it must be presumed the Magistrate did his duty. There is no evidence to the contrary in this case, nor indeed any evidence that the defendant cannot read, write, speak or understand English. If the Magistrate's reasons for his decision are relied on as showing the defendant's ignorance of the English language, they also show that the charge was interpreted to him and that he seemed to understand it. Reasons (1) and reasons (2) and (3) (a) and (b) are therefore unsustainable.

The decision in Anderson v. Allt (17th December, 1908) shows reasons (2) and (3) (e) to be of no force.

The sole remaining reason is in effect that there was no evidence before the Magistrate of the value of the opium illegally brought into the colony, hence he could not impose the penalty prescribed by the Ordinance, viz.: "treble the value of the goods and of the duty payable thereon or five hundred dollars whichever is the larger sum."

In this case the amount of duty payable was specified in the charge to which the appellant pleaded guilty. The value of the opium was not inserted in the charge, but there was a memo at the foot of the sheet of paper containing the complaint that the opium was worth $72. This was not part of the charge pleaded to, and no evidence verifying this memo appears to have been given. Hence there was no legal evidence before the Magistrate justifying the penalty he imposed, viz.: $356.20 or three times ($72 plus $113.40).

The objection taken renders the penalty imposed open to question, but does not throw any doubt on the appellant's having committed the offence with which he was charged and of which he confessed he was guilty. The Court refers the case back to the Magistrate and directs him to take evidence as to the value of the opium and after taking such evidence to impose such penalty as the law prescribes (Luckie et al v. Anson, 16th November, 1889, a decision under Ord. 5 of 1868, Ord. 13 of 1893, sect. 29 and 31, which give the Court the same power as under the previous law.)

The onus of placing before the Magistrate the necessary evidence lay on the respondent, and such evidence not having been put forward and the appellant being entitled to have it decided on legal evidence whether he should bear a penalty exceeding five hundred dollars, the appellant's costs of appeal must be borne by the respondent.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 16TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

A. DE WEEVER,

versus

M. P. CAMACHO, JNR.

This is an action brought by the plaintiff, a solicitor of the Supreme Court, to recover from the defendant the amount of $126.25 being his taxed bill of costs in Ho-a-Hing v. Camacho. The defendant denies that he ever engaged the plaintiff as his solicitor or that he rendered any services to him. He further alleges that the plaintiff did not seven days before instituting this action or at all deliver to him a copy of the taxed bill or costs as required by Sect. 14 (1) of Ord. No. 18 of 1897.

The history of this case as appears from the evidence is that a partnership in certain gold concessions in the Puruni river existed between M. J. de Freitas and G. A. Reid—the latter of whom became indebted to de Freitas in the sum of $1,199.53 for which amount judgment was recovered on 18th December, 1908, Mr. A. B. Brown being counsel, instructed by the plaintiff as solicitor, in that action. The arrangement being that de Freitas should levy on Reid's interest in the concession, purchase the same and transfer it to Mr. A. B. Brown who undertook to pay de Freitas the amount of Reid's indebtedness and furnish all law expenses. Plaintiff admits that he was asked by Mr. A. B. Brown to be solicitor in this action and that he has never been paid his costs, and that when he asked de Freitas for payment Mr. A. B. Brown told him "not to press bill, remember you were acting for Burgess." According to the evidence of de Freitas both counsel and solicitor doubted whether he could levy on his partner's interest and advised him to transfer the judgment to a friend; he asked the present defendant to be that friend and he went with him to plaintiff's office and after hearing from plaintiff that he had so advised consented to take the transfer, "if under no responsibility for costs or anything else." This witness is corroborated by the defendant himself while the plaintiff denies having advised as alleged and states that he was only asked to transfer the action to defendant and did not know that de Freitas had ever thought of levying himself. This Court cannot rely on such evidence in the absence of corroboration. The transfer having taken place the plaintiff received from de Freitas a full description of the property to be levied on. This levy was opposed by one Ho-a-Hing and on the writ being served on defendant he took it to plaintiff in the absence of de Freitas from town and the same evening met de Freitas at the stelling and told him what he had done. De Freitas then saw both Mr. A. B. Brown and the plaintiff and subsequently retained Mr. McArthur and paid him $40 which he charged to Mr. A. B. Brown who, as this witness alleges, stated that being interested he did not like to appear himself. Mr. McArthur called for the defence says that he received all his instructions from de Freitas and that he never saw the present defendant in the matter. Reference has been made by plaintiff to the defendant having told him that he received a cheque from de Freitas for $500 to cover expenses. This is denied by both defendant and de Freitas and the Court finds that no such statement was ever made by defendant.

The Court is satisfied that the plaintiff undertook the conduct of the present action together with the transfer and cession to Camacho and the subsequent levy in order to oblige his friend Mr. A. B. Brown, and that if he looked to any one for his costs it was to that gentleman. It also is satisfied that there would have been no transfer and cession of action to the defendant but for the improper advice given to de Freitas by him which placed Camacho in no better position than de Freitas himself, the law being that execution shall not issue against any partnership property except on a judgment against the firm (sect. 25 (1) of Ord. No. 20 of 1900). It is further satisfied that the present defendant was only nominally defendant and that he neither took nor had any interest whatever in the action, and that the plaintiff so understood throughout. This being so he was not the actual client of the plaintiff. The solicitor for the plaintiff has referred in his argument to section 15 of Ord. No. 18 of 1897, which provides that no special agreement between a solicitor and his client as to payment shall be good and valid in law unless in writing. As the Court is of opinion that defendant was never regarded by the plaintiff as his client, this does not apply and moreover it has not been pleaded as required by O. 17, R. 15 of the Rules of Court. This Court has dealt with this case fully on the merits as the conduct of an officer of the Court is involved. The defence, however, by their pleadings have alleged that the plaintiff did not deliver to the defendant seven days before issuing his writ, a copy of the taxed bill of costs on which the action is based, section 14 (1) of Ord. 18 of 1897. Plaintiff, in his reply, denies this, and in his evidence states he handed it to defendant in his (plaintiff's) office when he was alone with him while his clerk says that plaintiff handed it to defendant outside his private office in his presence. The defendant, on the other hand, states that he never went to plaintiff's office on the day in question, and that he never saw the taxed bill until he was served with the writ in this action. In the Court's opinion, plaintiff has failed to prove service of the taxed bill of costs. On these grounds the Court gives judgment for the defendant with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 16TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

RAMPAL

versus

MOHABEER MARAJ.

The plaintiff in his statement of claim alleges that he sued one Doolam for transport of the east half of lot 94 and east half of lot 92 of Pln. Triumph, with the buildings and erections thereof or in the alternative for the sum of $135, and damages. He obtained judgment for the sum of $135 and $20 as damages and by virtue of such judgment he levied on the said lots and the same were sold at execution. He requested defendant to bid for him at the same execution sale and the defendant agreed to do so, and the property was knocked down to the defendant for the sum of $50.50 which sum the plaintiff gave him. The defendant refused to transport the said lots and the plaintiff claims transport of the same and on the failure of defendant passing same, then that the Registrar be empowered to pass the same. The defendant denies that he purchased the said property on plaintiff's behalf but says that he purchased it for himself and paid for it with his own money.

The plaintiff in his evidence states that after he got judgment against Doolam and levied that defendant asked him when the execution sale was to be held that he told him and that defendant said he was going to the sale, that on the morning of the sale he went to defendant's house and the defendant agreed to purchase the property from the plaintiff and that he the plaintiff paid defendant's fare to Georgetown. That he had money with him viz., $51.32, and defendant told him he also had money in the Bank and if plaintiff's $51.32 was not sufficient then he would draw money from the Bank and lend him, that when they arrived in town they went to Mr. McArthur's chambers and from there to the Law Courts and he (plaintiff) then went to Mr. Solicitor Sampson's office, that he then showed Mr. Sampson his money and had a conversation with him and both he and Mr. Sampson went to the Law Courts where he showed both Sampson and defendant his money and they counted it. Defendant said if he bought the property that he would take plaintiff's money but that if Sampson bought it then he must give Sampson. The sale started and defendant bid up to $50.50 at that figure and the property was sold, that plaintiff then gave the defendant his purse containing $51.32. The Marshal asked whose name the property was to be put in and defendant first said Rampal meaning the plaintiff, but subsequently put down his own ticket and told the Marshal to put it in his (the defendant's) name. Defendant then paid for the property with his (the plaintiff's) money. Mr. Sampson, in his evidence, identifies the plaintiff as the person sent to him by Mr. McArthur with the request to look after the sale on behalf of Mr. McArthur but is unable to identify the defendant; he stated that as this matter was not his own he was not acquainted with the original facts of the case and neither did he take any particular note of what took place at the execution sale and could only swear as to certain facts. He swears positively that the plaintiff came to his office and that he (Sampson) offered to bid for him, that plaintiff said he had money and that he showed it to him but he is unable to say how much. Nor can he recollect it having been counted at any time; that he (Sampson) thinking the money might not be sufficient had a conversation with Mr. Olton, then Registrar, as to the passing of receipts between the Registrar and plaintiff. If the property was knocked down to the plaintiff, he (the plaintiff) being the execution creditor, but his (Sampson's) proposal was declined by Mr. Olton and the sale of the properties in question was proceeded with. As to who started the bidding at the sale Mr. Sampson is also uncertain, but he swears that whilst the bidding was going on he saw a man who had been in the company of the plaintiff also bidding (and from the whole of the evidence I have no doubt that that man was the defendant) and that he asked plaintiff if it was all right, and plaintiff said "Yes, he was bidding for him." The property was knocked down to this man. Both plaintiff and this man came inside the Marshal's Office and the man said it was his purchase and paid the money. The plaintiff was present and said nothing. The man never said he was bidding for plaintiff.

One Bisson, a relative of the plaintiff, gave evidence, but he was not present at the sale and his evidence only goes to what plaintiff stated occurred at Beterverwagting station in the morning and on their return in the afternoon but I do not believe his evidence.

Solomon Job was also called. He said that he was of opinion that Marshal Knight sold the property but swore positively that the purchase money was paid to Marshal Knight and that he saw it so paid and that he called out that the plaintiff was being robbed. He admits that was the first time he had seen plaintiff or defendant and that he was only at the sale as a looker-on and had no interest in it. Marshal Knights, however, had died some weeks previous to the sale, and I cannot believe this witness. Nathaniel Shepperd, clerk to Mr. McArthur, was also called and it appears from his evidence that he was not present at the sale, but that he saw both plaintiff and defendant at Mr. McArthur chambers before the sale and that the plaintiff told him, defendant had come to bid for him at the sale; in accordance with McArthur's instructions he took plaintiff to Mr. Sampson's office, that after the sale Job told him something and he saw plaintiff and defendant. The plaintiff stated that the defendant had bought the place for him and the defendant said that was so and that he would give it over to plaintiff.

For the defence Fitz Benjamin Edwards, the Marshal who conducted the sale, swears that in the morning before the sale the plaintiff saw him and said he would like to buy the property, that he had $30 and would bid to that amount but would not go beyond that sum, he made no mention of any one bidding for him. When the property was put up the plaintiff, the defendant, and Mr. Sampson bid. The plaintiff bid up to $30 and Mr. Sampson bid up to $50, the defendant bid 50 cents more and the property was knocked down to him. He called on defendant for the money, and defendant said he had not sufficient but showed a Bank Book and the witness gave him time to go to the Bank and draw the money. The defendant paid a portion of the money, left and returned with the balance. No purse with notes and silver was produced, the money defendant paid he took from his pocket. He gave defendant possession of the property the same afternoon, the plaintiff and defendant travelling with him but plaintiff said nothing as to the property. The defendant himself swears that the sale of this property was brought to his notice by one Manoel John who keeps a shop at Beterverwagting and who writes all defendant's papers. That he and John went to town on the morning of the sale, that he asked John to go with him to the sale, and that John did so. He denies that he made any agreement with plaintiff but admits that he saw plaintiff at the sale but had no conversation with him. The sale started. Plaintiff bid, Sampson bid and he also bid and bought the property for $50.50, he signed the conditions of sale and deposited $10 and then went to the Bank drew $50 and then paid the Marshal the balance and the Marshal gave the receipt "E." He also denies he ever went to McArthur's office with plaintiff or that he saw or spoke to Bisson or Shepperd on that day.

The defendant is corroborated by Manoel John who also states that a few days after the sale plaintiff asked him if defendant would sell him the place for $80 and he told him to ask defendant.

On the whole of the evidence I am not satisfied that the defendant purchased the property as agent of plaintiff. I therefore give judgment for defendant with costs.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, Acting J.

THIS 20TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

J. MARTINS

versus

J. AND E. DE FREITAS.

The plaintiff claims from the defendants: (a.) An account of defendants dealings and intromissions with the estate of Manoel de Freitas to which they were appointed executor and executrix, respectively, from the 28th day of August, 1908, the time of the death of the said Manoel de Freitas, to the date of the rendering of the said account.

(b.) Payment and delivery of whatever money and property may be found to be due owing and payable and deliverable to the plaintiff.

(c.) The costs of the proceedings.

The defendants admit that they are the executor and executrix, respectively, but allege that accounts were rendered to the plaintiff and that on the 4th March, 1909, the plaintiff accepted the sum of $329.16 as his portion under the will and in writing duly exonerated, acquitted and for ever discharged the defendants and each of them as executor and executrix as aforesaid from all rents, actions, sums of money, accounts, reckoning or other causes of action or proceedings at law or equity which he (the plaintiff) then had or any time thereafter could or might have against the defendants for or on account of any transactions or intrusions had or held by them in their capacity as aforesaid in respect of the said estate for or by means of any act, matter or thing in any wise relating thereto.

The plaintiff, in reply, alleges that such discharge was obtained by fraud.

The plaintiff, in his evidence, admits that he received the sum of $329.16 less the sum of $3.60 being the amount of stamp duty for the discharge, that he was then satisfied that the amount was correct and gave the defendant the discharge admitted. That subsequently one of the other heirs, Cabral, who had an equal interest in the estate sued the executors for accounts and obtained judgment for a larger sum than he (the plaintiff) had accepted.

In support of his plea of fraud, counsel for plaintiff tendered an affidavit and statement of intrusions filed by defendants as executor and executrix of the said estate in the action brought by Cabral. Objection was taken to the same but I am of opinion that it is admissible. In that statement against the name of Maria appears the sum of $384.77 as having been received by her as her portion of the estate and I am satisfied that the said Maria is the wife of the present plaintiff who is suing for accounts.

The report of the Accountant of Court and the judgment of the Court in the matter of Cabral versus the present defendants were also tendered but I do not think they are admissible, the present plaintiff being no party to those proceedings.

I am satisfied that the plaintiff was well acquainted with the properties forming the estate of the said M. de Freitas and that he was satisfied that his portion came to $329.16 and that he accepted the same and fully discharged the executors.

The mere fact that the plaintiff subsequently discovered that he might have been entitled to a larger amount than he accepted is not in itself sufficient to warrant the Court in setting aside on the ground of fraud, the discharge executed by him.

Judgment for defendants with costs.

2. The examiner's report on the work is as follows:—"The work of Section A was good. In Section B some of the candidates sent up very good specimens, but the work of the majority was poor, and showed want of practice. In Section C the greater number made a very bad attempt at inserting the gusset and fixing in band, and many omitted the herring-boning altogether. Section D was very satisfactory, only two of the specimens sent up failed to attain the required standard."

Government Notice.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

323.

30th December, 1910.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies with its enclosures on the subject of the proposals made to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for the continuation of the direct transatlantic service to the West Indies.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

DOWNING STREET,
5th December, 1910.

SIR,—I have the honour to transmit to you the accompanying copy of a correspondence with the General Post Office on the subject of the proposals made to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for the continuation of the direct transatlantic service to the West Indies.

2. You will have been informed of the substance of this correspondence by telegraph but you will no doubt desire to publish the text of the letters to and from the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for the general information of the public in the colony.

3. The letters which have passed between the General Post Office and this Department explain the circumstances in which His Majesty's Government proposed to the Company a time-table for their Inter-colonial Service which, I fear, cannot but result in serious inconvenience to passengers. I regret this result, but the Company's action has left the Government no practicable alternative.

I have, etc.,

(Sgd.) L. HARCOURT.

Governor

Sir F. M. HODGSON, K.C.M.G., &c., &c., &c.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
London,

28th November, 1910.

SIR,—With reference to recent correspondence on the subject of the determination of the contract for the Transatlantic Service from this country to the West Indies, I am directed to acquaint you, for the information of the Secretary of State, that the Postmaster

General has been unable to come to terms with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for a continuance of the Service, and I am to enclose copies of correspondence with the Company in which an offer of an inclusive subsidy of £55,000 per annum has been made by this Department and refused by the Company.

2. As Mr. Secretary Harcourt is aware, the only other shipping Companies engaged in West Indian Trade with any degree of regularity are those of the Leyland and Harrison Lines. The vessels of these Companies are not run in such a way as to be suitable for a mail service, owing to the fact that they do not call at any West Indian colony on the homeward voyage. The Postmaster General has ascertained that the Companies are unable to make any change in the homeward itinerary, and that any attempt to arrange a regular fortnightly departure from this country would result in a complete dislocation of their trade, which they are unwilling to face.

3. In the meantime it appears necessary to make temporary arrangements for the Mail service by employing the Harrison Line steamer Traveller on the 31st of December for the outward voyage direct to Barbados to be followed by the adoption of the route of New York in conjunction with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's Intercolonial Service. I am to submit the annexed time-table for Mr. Secretary Harcourt's consideration and I am to suggest that if approved, the Company should be instructed to comply with it.

I am, &c.,

(Sgd.) MATTHEW NATHAN.

THE UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE,
Colonial Office.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
London,

22nd November, 1910.

SIR,—With reference to recent correspondence on the subject of the Transatlantic Mail Service to the West Indies carried out under the Contract of the 6th of June, 1907, which terminated on the 10th of this month, I am directed to acquaint you, for the information of the Court of Directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, that the Postmaster General is now in a position to make a definite offer for the continuance of the service under the following conditions, viz:—

(1.) As far as possible the main conditions of the late Contract with regard to speed, frequency and itinerary would be adhered to, but the Postmaster General would require the Mails for the Windward and Leeward Islands and for British Guiana to be carried on to Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, for transhipment at that port to the Company's Intercolonial Packets. Port-of-Spain would thus take the place of Barbados as the headquarters of the Company in the West Indies.

(2.) Due consideration would be given to the Company's commercial requirements, and such modifications as may from time to time be necessary for those purposes would be provided for in a new Contract.

(3.) Payment for the conveyance of Mails by weight would cease absolutely, and all postal facilities afforded by the service under Contract would be paid for under an inclusive subsidy at the rate of £55,000 per annum.

(4.) The new Contract would contain the usual provisions as to Time-Tables, security of mails, etc., which are common to all Contracts between the Postmaster General and Shipping Companies.

(5.) The Agreement would be made for a period not exceeding three years on and from the date of the despatch of the first steamer from Southampton under the proposed Contract, and would be terminable at the end of that period or at any time thereafter by six months' notice on either side.

The Court of Directors will, of course, understand that this offer is subject to the approval of His Majesty's Treasury, and that no contract will be binding until it has been approved by the House of Commons.

The Postmaster General will be glad to be made acquainted with the decision of the Court of Directors as soon as possible.

I am, etc.,

(Sgd.) MATTHEW NATHAN.

THE SECRETARY,
Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

THE ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET COMPANY,
18, Moorgate Street,
London, E.C.,
24th November, 1910.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated 22nd November, 1910, intimating that the Postmaster General is now in a position to make a definite offer for the continuance of the Transatlantic Mail Service to the West Indies for a period not exceeding three years at an inclusive subsidy (that is, including the present poundage) of £55,000 per annum.

The Court of Directors have carefully considered the proposals contained in your letter, but seeing that the additional payment which you have been good enough to propose would not cover the loss which the Company sustains in carrying out the service, they regret that they are unable to see their way to accept it.

In order to put the service on a commercial basis the subsidy should be £60,000 more than the poundage payment which the Company has been receiving recently, but in view of the historic connection between H.M. Government, the Company and the West Indian Colonies the Court of Directors are prepared to enter into a Contract at a lower sum than they would be justified in accepting on strictly business principles. The lowest sum, however, which they can possibly accept is £50,000 more than was provided under the poundage basis.

The Court of Directors think that, on consideration, the Postmaster General will recognise that a three years' contract is far too short for the Company, which has to organise and make arrangements throughout their large system, nor does it afford the Company that stability and certainty which they undoubtedly ought to have in carrying out a contract of this nature.

The Company would submit that the contract should be for not less than ten years, but in any case it should run concurrently with the present Intercolonial Mail Service Contract and not terminate before the expiration of that contract.

I have, &c.,

(Sgd.) R. L. FORBES,
Secretary.

THE SECRETARY,
General Post Office.

Homeward connection at Trinidad with Royal Dutch Line on the 10th of January, 1911.

Homeward connection at Barbados with Royal Dutch Line on the 23rd January.

* After these voyages it is proposed that one branch boat shall connect at Barbados on the 23rd of January and convey the Islands Mail, returning to Trinidad with the homeward mail for conveyance to New York by Royal Dutch Line on the 31st January; and the other branch boat shall connect at Trinidad on the 30th of January and convey the British Guiana mail, returning to Barbados on the 6th of February to transfer the homeward mail to the Royal Dutch Line for conveyance to New York. And at intervals of two weeks there-after this routine will be followed.

DOWNING STREET,
2nd December, 1910.

SIR,—I am directed by Mr. Secretary Harcourt to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 28th of November (518,096) enclosing a copy of correspondence with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company and of the time-table of the Intercolonial Service which the Post-master General proposes to suggest to the Company in view of the failure of his effort to obtain a renewal of the direct Transatlantic Service Contract.

2. Mr. Harcourt has carefully considered the matter, as it is clear to him that the adoption of the proposed time-table must be attended by serious inconvenience to passengers; but he recognizes that the cancellation of the homeward voyage of the steamer of the 21st of December, and the probability of further alterations in the main line service affecting passenger traffic, render inevitable the withdrawal of the time-tables previously suggested by the General Post Office. In these circumstances Mr. Harcourt can but acquiesce in the efforts of the Postmaster General to make the best use possible of the Intercolonial service for mail purposes until such time as the demands of the passenger traffic produce the offer of facilities from some other source than the main line service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

3. Mr. Harcourt understands that the necessary communication to the Company will be made by the Postmaster General.

4. Copies of your letter and its enclosures are being communicated to the West Indian Colonies concerned.

I am, etc.,

(Sgd.) H. W. JUST.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
 GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 23RD DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

OBERMULLER, Appellant,
versus

CUMMINGS, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of obstructing a peace officer in the execution of his duty.

The sole reason for appeal argued is that there is no evidence that the respondent, who is a rural constable, was obstructed in the execution of his duty as a peace officer by the appellant.

The evidence is that the respondent hearing a noise of people crying and shouting went to the appellant's place, and saw him coming out on the dam with a cup in his hands which he dipped into a barrel, that the two said "Good afternoon" to each other, and the respondent then asked him about the noise whereupon the appellant said "What the hell you want," and on the respondent's saying he had a right to come if there was any noise or disorderly behaviour as he was a constable, the appellant ordered him to leave his place and he not doing so pushed him out and that the appellant subsequently fetched a stick and assaulted him while on the dam. The respondent also states that the appellant's wife was the person who was crying and he saw her at the appellant's door when he went to the place.

The charge is one not for assault, but for obstructing the constable in the execution of his duty.

The constable was acting in the execution of his duty when on hearing the noise he went to the place whence the sounds proceeded to ascertain the cause. But when the spot was reached, no disturbance was going on, no breach of the peace was being committed, nor was there, according to the evidence, any reason for apprehending that a breach of the peace was imminent, nor was any complaint made to the constable, nor was there before him any indication of the previous commission of or attempt to commit, a serious crime. Under these circumstances, the request to him to leave the appellant's premises and subsequent pushing him therefrom and the assault on him later on, cannot, in my opinion, be held to have been obstructing him in the execution of his duty, though as stated by counsel it would probably have sustained a different charge.

The appeal is allowed, and the Magistrate's decision reversed, but without costs, the respondent not having appeared, and the circumstances showing that the appellant's misconduct caused the proceedings to be taken.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 23RD DAY OF DECEMBER, 1910.

SOODHOO

versus

PURBHOO.

Plaintiff seeks to obtain possession of certain land which he claims as his property and which is in the possession of the defendant.

Mr. Seymour, Sworn Land Surveyor, is called for the plaintiff, and Mr. Bowhill, also a Sworn Land Surveyor, for the defendant. The evidence of these two witnesses is in conflict and this Court is disposed to accept as more probable that of Mr. Bowhill. The plaintiff has failed to establish his claim and the action must be dismissed with costs.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

TEEKAH

versus

SAKAL DEEP.

This action is brought by the plaintiff to recover from the defendant the sum of $144 being six per cent. on the sum of $2,400 alleged by the plaintiff to be due to him under and in terms of a certain agreement under and by virtue of which the defendant agreed in consideration of the plaintiff securing a mortgage for him on Plantations Canefield and Orange Nassau for the sum of $2,500 he would pay him on the passing of the said mortgage six per cent. commission on the said sum of $2,500 that is $150.

The defence is a denial of the agreement, fraud on the part of the plaintiff if the so-called agreement is the paper he signed on or about 11th May, 1910, which he was told was an application to an Insurance Company for a loan and which he signed under this belief, he being unable either to read or write English, and he further denies that plaintiff negotiated any loan for him through the Hon. J. P. Santos or at all.

The paper produced in Court as containing the agreement is admitted by the defendant to be the one signed by him and as to the circumstances under which he so signed the plaintiff alleges that he wrote a draft which he handed to the witness Mahase to copy and that it was read by both the witnesses thereto (Mahase and Dowd Harry) aloud partly in English and partly in Hindustani to the defendant who agreed to it and signed it. The witness Mahase states that plaintiff got the draft from amongst other papers and did not write it in his presence, that he gave it to him and that he wrote out the agreement and read it to defendant who signed his name in Hindustani, that he read it to him in English and that he could not understand some words which he explained to him in Hindustani, and that the other witness (Dowd Harry) also read it to him. Dowd Harry confirms the plaintiff as to his writing the draft which Mahase copied and defendant signed, and adds that Mahase read it to defendant and what he did not understand, Mahase and he told him in Hindustani. He admits that he heard the parties speak of an Insurance Company as well as a mortgage but that he heard nothing about a loan from an Insurance Company. This witness on being handed by the Court the agreement which he is asked to read aloud cannot do it and denies that he ever read it to defendant and admits he cannot read it. Mahase recalled reads the agreement distinctly and repeats that it was read by Dowd Harry to defendant.

The evidence of the defendant on this point is that the plaintiff told him to sign his name and that he would send to the Insurance to get money for him. It is not questioned that the defendant does not clearly understand English and it is incumbent on the plaintiff to satisfy the Court beyond reasonable doubt that he fully understood the nature of the paper that he signed. The evidence of the witnesses whose names appear on the agreement does not warrant the Court in finding as a fact that the defendant was made aware of the terms thereof—their evidence being contradictory and unsatisfactory. This document was drawn up in Georgetown and it was open to the plaintiff to have had the same executed under circumstances which would have placed it beyond dispute instead of obtaining as witnesses two customers who happened to be in the store of Santos & Co., purchasing from plaintiff, he being clerk in that establishment.

As to the second point that the loan from Santos was not obtained through the plaintiff, the evidence of the plaintiff could have been corroborated by that of Mr. Santos who at a certain period during the hearing of this action was in the gallery of the Court. In the absence of this evidence and in view of that of Mr. Dias called for the defence who at the time held a mortgage on defendant's property and who was paid off by the money obtained from Mr. Santos this Court must hold that plaintiff has failed to prove that any money was obtained by defendant through his negotiating with Mr. Santos or that an introduction to Mr. Santos was obtained by defendant through him. Judgment for defendant with costs.
